SIMON SAYS MAY HAVE TO WAR IF HITLER CHOOSES

Makes Plea to Germany to Take Off Outside Pressure in Czech Dispute.

PRAGUE. (UP). The German legation protested strongly to Foreign Minister Kamil Krofta against an "affront to the German army and the German people" contained in a newspaper article about the military parade held in Berlin in honor of Admiral Horthy. The protest demanded punishment of those responsible for writing and publishing the article. It declared such a press campaign is poisoning the atmosphere.

LANARK, Scotland. (AP). Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, served notice of an anxious world that Great Britain might have to fight if Germany started a war in central Europe

The former foreign minister repeated, "As holding good today," Prime Minister Chamberlain's declaration before the house of commons March 24 that "if war were to break out it would be unlikely to be confined to those who have assumed such obligations"—to aid Czechoslovakia against aggression.

"The beginning of a conflict is like the beginning of a fire in a high wind," he said.

"It may be limited at the start. But who can say how far it would spread or how much destruction it would do or how many may be called to beat it out?"

Sir John added this warning: "This very case of Czechoslovakia may be so critical for the future of Europe that it would be impossible to assume a limit to the disturbance that a conflict might involve and every one in every country who considers the consequences has to bear that in mind."

Sir John coupled a firm warning that there "is no limit to the reactions of war" today with an unmistakable plea to Chancellor Hitler to do his "duty" and take outside pressure off the dispute in Czechoslovakia where the nazi supported German Sudeten party demands autonomy.

FAY HOUGHAM ADMITS A CHARGE OF FORGERY

Denver Girl Arraigned and Sentence Deferred by Judge Chappell.

Fay Hougham, 25, Denver, pleaded guilty before District Judge Chappell Saturday to forging a check for $30, which she attempted to pass on a local store on Aug. 22. Judge Chappell deferred action until further investigation is made. Miss Hougham not only admitted passing this check but admitted passing 17 checks in Lincoln upon which she received a total of $302.99. She had $149.60 with her when arrested and merchandise that she had purchased was recovered.

She admitted she had operated in Pueblo but denied that she had passed any bad checks in any other cities.

She said that her method was to write a letter to herself at her Lincoln address very dimly. When the letter arrived at her hotel she erased the dimly traced pencil address and put a North Platte address on the letter with a typewriter. This made it appear that the letter had been sent to her from Lincoln to North Platte. She used such letters for identification.

She said she had been employed in a federal position in Washington. While there met a girl who told her how to work the deal. She had bank checks from a number of banks over the country. A sister from Denver appeared in court to intercede for her and said she had not been in trouble before

DROPS DEAD IN AN ALLEY

J. L. Turner Stricken While Unloading Potatoes.

John L. Turner, 43, of 419 No. 10th, fell dead Saturday noon in the alley at the rear of the Black stone cafe, just as he was getting out of his car to unload some potatoes. Charles Tavilinsky, 1203 No. 7th, saw him fall and summoned officers. Dr. Lynn Sharrai pronounced him dead and Deputy Sheriff Davis said it was apparently a case of heart failure.

Turner, who peddled potatoes about town, was a World war veteran, having enlisted in 1918 at Enid, Okl, and served until the next February in the 13th infantry. He leaves his wife, Clead Rae; daughter, Mrs. Lela Bruce of Sioux City; two brothers, Howard of St. Louis and Raymond Brooks in California; sister, Mrs. Irene Cliff of Newton, Kas, and two grandchildren. Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock Monday at Umbergers, with burial in Wyuka.

Women Hitchhikers Admit Killing Farmer

Mrs. Jean Brooks, 23, Elizabethtown, Tenn. (top), and Mrs. Beulah Honeycutt, 25 (below), Johnson City, Tenn., confessed the murder and robbery of Felix Shannon, 56 year old farmer of Fairfield, Ill., in his home, after he picked them up while they were hitchhiking in Indiana.—Acme telephoto.

DECLARES HENSEL WAS CHRISTIAN POLITICIAN

Dr. Aitken Has High Praise for Late Sheriff at Funeral Rites.

Funeral services for Claude P. Hensel, sheriff of Lancaster county for the past 16 years, were held Saturday afternoon at Trinity Methodist church, with Rev. Walter Aitken in charge. Dr. Aitken had high praise for Mr. Hensel as "a fine exemplification of the Christian in politics, quiet, peace loving, kindly disposed, friendly with people and always inspired by high Christian ideals."

Mr. Hensel was a member of St. Paul Methodist church, but the fact that the downtown edifice is being renovated necessitated holding the services at Trinity church. Dr Aitken said in part:

"The emoluments of his office did not make him rich, because his heart was so easily touched and his hand was so wide open that he kept himself poor by giving to the needy. He never knew how to say no when such calls came.

"He was honorable in his relations with his fellows and because of that he was a deservedly popular man. He had no cause for fear. His conscience was void of offense and to use the expression of another he 'feared man so little because he feared God so much.'

"He represented the ideal of the Christian in politics, so with clean hands and a warm heart he rendered faithful and effective service as the sheriff of his county. Sanity and moderation characterized him in the performance of his duties. There was never any question about his patriotism. He served his country in various capacities as soldier and citizen.

"Efficient as an officer of the law, his work speaks for itself, but

2 UNION ORGANIZERS FACE ASSAULT CHARGE

Jeffreys and Hill Held in City Jail at Request of Non-Union Trucker.

Two organizers for the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffers, Stablemen, and Helpers, local No 608, were being held in the city jail as the result of an incident occurring about 10 a. m. Saturday at 10th and Charleston

A complaint charging technical assault was drawn by Co. Atty. Towle against Lee Jeffreys, 2900 R, and John Hill, 1034 P, at the request of Walter Means, Route No. 2, farmer-trucker who alleged the two union men attempted to force him to join the trucker's union.

Means claims that Hill and Jefferys accosted him, after he had left the Union Terminal company's warehouse and that Hill had a piece of brick and threatened him with it and that the two men stopped his truck and asked if he

TWO FLIERS KILLED.

JAFFA, Palestine (AP). Two royal air force men were killed when their plane, engaged in aiding troops in a night battle with an Arab band, was forced down. The fight took place near Tul Karm and resulted in the deaths of 11 Arabs and the wounding of scores.

ORDERS DISTRICT TO SHUT CURRENT OFF POLE LINES

Eastern Nebraska District Interfered With Telephone Service.

The railway commission Saturday issued an order written by Chairman Bollen and concurred in by his associates directing the Eastern Nebraska public power district to de-energize (which means to shut off current completely) its transmission lines which parallel 14 rural lines of the Union Telephone company of Unadilla. Atty. Van Pelt and Secy. Kline said the order would be complied with. It affects 120 customers of the district, most of them telephone subscribers.

The commission finds that construction and energizing of the district's transmission lines have caused such inductive interference that the efficiency of the telephone lines has been unreasonably interfered with; that the district constructed its transmission lines in violation of section 86-313 o fthe state laws and in violation of the condition of the commission order issued Aug. 6, 1937; that a grounded telephone line is a properly constructed telephone line within the meaning of the statute, and is not improperly constructed because it is not metalicized; that the commission had jurisdiction to enter the order of Aug. 6, 1937, with a condition therein contained, and that, the district having constructed and energized its transmission lines under authority of that order, the challenge to the jurisdiction comes too late; and that the district having refused to comply with the condition that there should be no unreasonable interference with existing telephone lines, an order should be entered de-energizing the transmission lines involved.

The district is following instructions from Washington, the REA administration having taken the position that it will not pay the expense of or contribute to the cost of metalicizing telephone lines.

Lines Were Repaired.

When the first hearing on the complaint of the Unadilla company was held, the district said the trouble lay in poor condition of the telephone lines. The company was directed to make necessary repairs, and after this was done Hugh W. Cargo, commission engineer, inspected them and reported that there was unreasonable interference.

The commission finds that it has authority of law to issue its

FEDERAL BUYING PLAN BUOYS WHEAT VALUES

Kansas City Pit Sets Pace With Upturns Beyond 3 Cents; Corn Follows.

CHICAGO. (AP). Domestic wheat markets scored gains of as much as 3 cents Saturday, reacting to the government's plan, announced Friday, to buy the grain for export and relief purposes. Kansas City, due largely to the fact that the bulk of the wheat to be bought by the government is centered in the southwest, led the price upturn with gains of more than 3 cents.

In Chicago a heavy demand developed that shot prices up 2 cents on opening sales and later nearly 3 cents. Despite heavy profit taking here the market continued strong and after reaching a little more than a cent closed only fractions from the highs. Minneapolis was up more than 2 cents at the close Winnipeg gained better than a cent. Corn followed wheat in all markets.

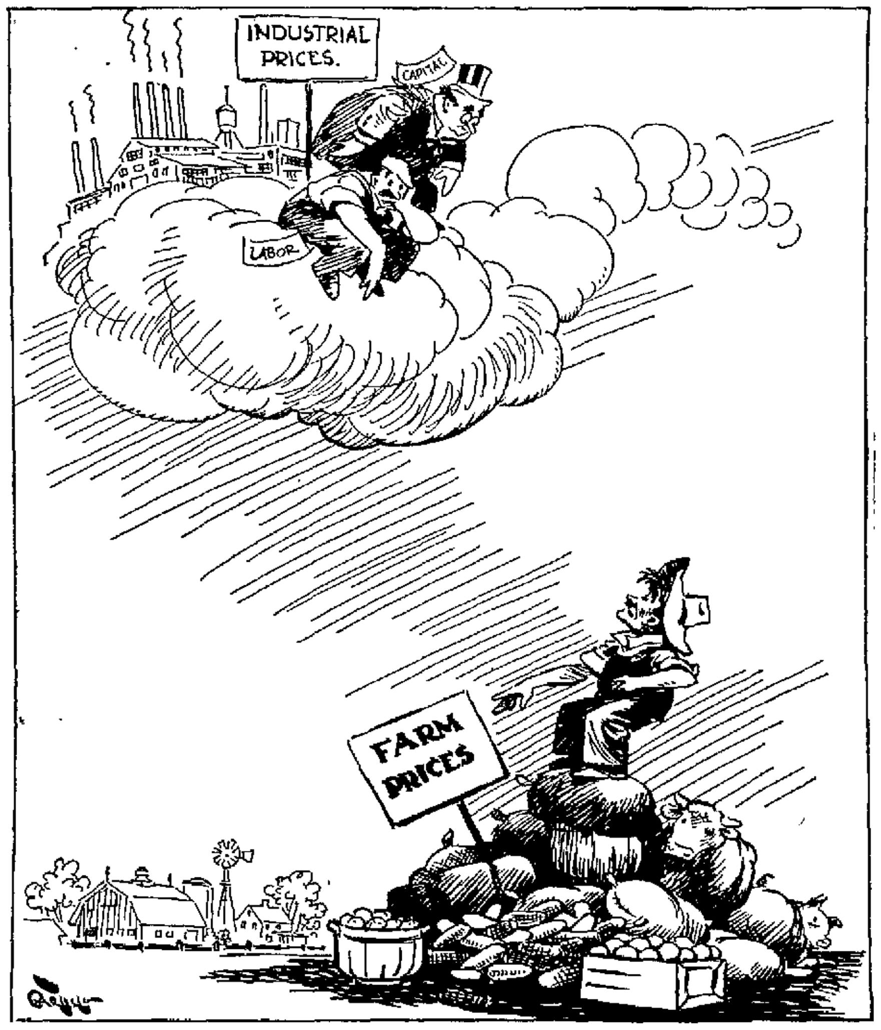
How much wheat the government will buy remained a question, and some traders pointed out that until the government issued some positive information concerning its subsidy plan the final effect of the program could not be known. Some thought the program would lead to price cutting in world markets Some traders, doubted too, that co-operation between the United States and Canada in export of surplus wheat would be achieved.

Cash wheat at Lincoln jumped 2 cents to 58c for No. 1, in sympathy with the broad advance on American futures markets. Cash corn followed suit, climbing 2 cents to 44c and 42c for white and yellow, respectively.

CAR THIEVES ACTIVE.

Thieves who were successful in gaining entrance to locked cars robbed two motorists Friday night. W. H. Meyers, 200 So. 35th, reported to police the theft of accessories valued at nearly $12 from his auto parked in his yard. M. E. Allensworth, 1318 So. 25th, told officers the lenses, rims and bulbs from his headlights and tail light were removed, as were the gas cap, the dash light and ten gallons of gasoline. Both motorists said their cars were locked.

Always Out of Reach



WADSWORTH CHARGES F. D. R. BRIBED VOTERS

New York Congressman Speaks at Indiana "Cornfield Conference."

WASHINGTON, Ind. (UP). Representative Wadsworth, opening the 1938 republican congressional campaign, charged Saturday that President Roosevelt had "bribed" the American people with federal funds in an attempt to scuttle congress and the supreme court and build up his executive power.

"We may as well face the fact," Wadsworth said, "that he and his advisors despise the congress and the supreme court and so long as he sits in the white house every conceivable effort will be made to bring the congress and the court to subjection.

"Wherever we turn we are confronted with federal money—billions of it. It is used brazenly in tempting the states and their subordinate municipalities into acquiescence of federal power. To put it boldly, much of this tempting should be called bribery—the bribery of an unsuspecting people into acquiescence," Wadsworth said.

He charged that federal funds had been used to "browbeat and terrorize men in public life" and that the president had used the power of his office "openly and confidently in primaries and elections, in the allotment of funds, and in playing of favourites."

He and John Hamilton, chairman of the national committee, and other party leaders addressed thousands of Indiana and midwestern republicans at a "cornfield conference" on the farm of Homer Capehart, retired Hoosier industrialist.

WASHINGTON, Ind (AP) Republican Chairman Hamilton accused President Roosevelt of "adopting the Russian technique of the purge to divert our attention from the failures of the new deal."

He said the president's effort to defeat congressmen he considered unsympathetic to his program was patterned after the "purge" originated by Russia's dictator Stalin and used later by Germany's Hitler to turn attention from their failures.

"But the American people are not being misled by the theatricals of the new deal purge," Hamilton said. "They want the real issues of this campaign discussed in the open and they want Mr. Roosevelt to justify, if he can, the plight in which this country finds itself after more than five years of his rule."

NEBRASKAN PRIZE WINNER

Dr. Franklin Barrow of Dumont Gets $2,000.

DUMONT, Neb. (UP). Dr Franklin W. Barrow of Dumont, won a national grand prize of $2,000 in a home economics institute contest sponsored by the Kelvinator division of Nash-Kelvinator corporation, it was announced Saturday.

EX-CONVICT IS CRUCIFIED

"Knew Too Much" and "Wanted to Go Straight."

RENO, Nev. (AP). Ed Collins, 27 year old ex-convict, was stripped, nailed to a cross and left to die with his clothes burning at his feet because, he said, "I know too much." Rescued, he told officers before going to sleep Saturday under the influence of hypodermics, that he was nailed to the cross Friday night by two former "pals" involved in a San Diego, Calif., payroll holdup for which he was sent to San Quentin prison.

When he refused to join them in a robbery and insisted upon "going straight," they told him. "All right, if you want to be a little Jesus Christ, we'll make one out of you."

Collins' screams and the fire which seared his feet attracted Earl Dabney, a Negro, to the scene. He summoned police.

REVISED PROGRAM ON CORN LOANS PUBLISHED

Rate to Be Raised to 57 Cents, Same as for Crop Being Grown.

WASHINGTON. (AP). The agriculture department announced it would make loans on 1938 cotton at the base rate of 8.30 cents a pound.

The department also announced it had revised the loan program on last year's corn by raising the rate from 50 cents to 57 cents a bushel—the rate which officials said would be made available on the corn crop now being grown.

Under the revised corn loan, growers who already have placed grain under loan will be eligible to receive the increased rate

Both cotton and corn loans will be made by the Commodity Credit corporation. The cotton loans will bear 4 percent interest and mature July 31, 1939.

Revised corn loans will be made available until Nov. 1 to farmers in the midwestern commercial corn producing area. They will mature Aug. 1, 1939. Only farmers in this area who planted within 102 percent of their corn acreage allotments under the 1938 AAA program will be eligible for the renewal loans.

CAPT. EYSTON GOES 345.29 MILES HOUR

Betters Own Record Set Year Ago on Bonneville Salt Flats.

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah. (UP). Capt. George E. T. Eyston set a new land speed record when he drove his Thunderbolt car 345.49 miles an hour.

Capt Eyston's new mark bettered his own record, set here a year ago on the salt bed of old Lake Bonneville, of 311.42 miles an hour. Saturday the electric eye of the timer worked perfectly and Eyston and his seven ton car were "caught" as they entered the measured mile strip on both runs.

CAPT. EYSTON.

To make the mark official Capt. Eyston had to make the second run within an hour of the first. The average for the two constitutes the time for the record.

NEW YORK. (AP). Capt. Eyston traveled faster than any man did on land before. The world air record, over a three kilometer (1.864 miles) course and accepted by the International Aeronautic federation, was set at 709.2 kilometers per hour (440.681 m. p. h) by Francesco Angello of Italy, Oct. 23, 1934.

NO PHONES FOR BOOKIES

Illinois Utility Firm to Withdraw Service.

CHICAGO (UP). A veteran crusader against vice launched a new assault upon the harassed bookies with a petition to the Illinois commerce commission to order public utilities to "cease being partners in crime with gamblers and other criminals." Philip Yarrow, superintendent of the Illinois Vigilance association and chairman of the committee on civic reform of the Chicago Church federation, submitted the petition.

State's Attorney Courtney, who has smashed 17 handbooks with axes, meanwhile obtained assurance from the Illinois Bell Telephone company that it would withdraw service to all raided places.

RAIN FALLS AT MANY POINTS IN NEBRASKA

Lincoln Gets .16; More Than an Inch in South Central, Western Areas.

Rainfall varying from more than an inch in some Nebraska areas to light sprinkles in other sections fell Friday night and Saturday morning. Light showers beginning at 4:10 a. m. brought .16 of an inch to Lincoln.

Heaviest rains were recorded by weather observers at Culbertson and Clay Center, where 1.15 and 1.13 were turned in, respectively. One inch fell at Stratton and Indianola and three-fourths at Ravenna.

Some hail and wind accompanied the rain in the western border towns but little damage resulted. Most of the precipitation came about dawn in the eastern partion.

Lincoln Telephone company reports:

MRS. HENSEL WILL BE NAMED AS A DEPUTY

James W. Davis Says He Will Have Her Continue Work at Jail.

Deputy Sheriff Davis, whom county commissioners stated Thursday they would name as sheriff to fill the vacancy left by the death of Sheriff Hensel, in a letter to the commissioners Saturday, notified them he would accept the appointment if made and that he would appoint Mrs. Hensel, widow of the sheriff as a deputy sheriff to continue with the work of overseeing the feeding of prisoners and to act in the capacity in which she served for 16 years.

Mr. Davis in his letter said he appreciated the honor and added. "Permit me to say that I will attempt to perform the duties of the office as nearly as possible in the kindly sympathetic, and businesslike manner which was so characteristic of my departed chief. In this connection it will be necessary, and to me it will be a pleasure to retain the services of Mrs. Hensel as a deputy and in charge of the duties which she had performed for the last 16 years."

BODY FOUND BELOW BRIDGE

Still Unidentified Saturday at Council Bluffs.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, (UP). The body of a man, about 50 years old taken from the Missouri river, lay unidentified Saturday at a mortuary here. A fisherman found the body below the Union Pacific bridge. Coroner Belford says the victim was about six feet tall, weighed 185 pounds, had sandy gray hair and false teeth. A name deciphered as "W. F. Cuistam' was tattooed on one arm. He was dressed in a tan lightweight suit and brown oxfords.

was injured fatally about midnight when an automobile in which he was riding with his son went over a 35 foot embankment south of here.

The son, David, who was driving his father to their summer home at La Pointe, Wis, suffered a gash in the head, but his condition was not serious. Both were taken to a New Prague hospital, where the father died several hours later.

The elder Haecker had started his vacation Friday and the son had offered to drive him to his Wisconsin summer home at Madeline Island.

Mr. Haecker came to Lincoln from Wisconsin in 1896 as an instructor in the dairy department at the agricultural college, teaching in the dairy building con-

MAY BE FIGHT OVER G. O. P. LEADERSHIP

Wherry, Griswold, Van Pelt, Riddell and Matzke Mentioned for Chairman.

FREMONT, Neb. (UP). The republican state convention here next Thursday may not be as peaceful as had been anticipated. It has developed that there may be a fight over election of a state chairman.

Lyle Jackson of Neligh, who has held the post for several terms, is none too anxious to serve again, and, it is reported, some candidates have expressed a desire for a chairman residing "a little closer to headquarters," meaning closer to news sources in Lincoln or Omaha. The candidates have not agreed on a choice, it was learned. Among those being discussed are Kenneth Wherry of Pawnee City, Dwight Griswold of Gordon, Robert Van Pelt of Lincoln, John Riddell of York and Stanley Matzke of Seward.

Congressman Short of Missouri will be the g. o. p. keynoter. It was expected the convention would adopt a resolution favoring primary law reform. The meetings are to be held in the auditorium.

BATTLING OVER A LEGACY

Danish Organizations Ask Court to Decide Owner.

Representatives of the Dania Old People home asked the supreme court Saturday to overturn the action of the district court of Douglas county in finding for the Dannebrog lodge of Odd Fellows in a controversy over a legacy. Jacob Jensen, a mailman for years in Omaha, died in 1926 leaving a will bequeathing $1,500 to the old people's home, providing, however, that if it was not operating within a year the bequest was to go to the lodge. The latter claimed that it was entitled to have the money because the home had not been completed within ten years and was not completed at the time its claim for the $1,500 was made. It asserted that its trustee, William Jurgensen, had been fraudulently induced to sign the decree distributing the money to the home, on the representation that it would be completed within ten years.

The money is still in possession of the administrator, but the trustees of the home say that because of the proceedings takn in probate court, the entire issue has been adjudicated and the courts have no jurisdiction to hear the controversy.

Mary Helen Ahern of Lincoln, lately of Shubert, was announced Saturday as a new executive committee member of Lancaster Young Democrats club, having been appointed by the officers.

The state canvassing board met Saturday but found no ties or contests among the various candidates on the primary ballot. Figures will not be available, however, until Tuesday

The Burlington and Union Pacific railroads were authorized by the railway commission Saturday to established reduced rates on sugar beets from various producing origins to the mills, in order to meet truck competition.

By a vote of 2 to 1, Chairman Bollen dissenting, the railway commission Saturday denied the application of George S Arnold for extension of his irregular trucking operations to regular route operations.

Co Agt Purbaugh gave notice Saturday that the time for getting crop insurance will expire Aug. 31. About 700 applications have been received by Purbaugh's office, covering about 30,000 acres of land.

The railway commission Saturday authorized the Alma Co operative Equity exchange at Alma to operate as a licensed warehouse It canceled a bond given by the Manley Grain company of Manley, which reported it has no grain in storage.

Certified copy of an order of the circuit court of appeals, denying Earl Alexander, penitentiary inmate, leave to file writ of mandamus in effort to accomplish his freedom, was received here Saturday. Alexander was convicted in Thurston county in 1936 of being an habitual criminal and was sentenced to 17 years. He asked for a writ of habeas, claiming he was being illegally imprisoned, but this was denied.

Voluntary bankruptcy petition of Robert J. Robotham, Lincoln grocery clerk and delivery driver, was filed Saturday in federal court. Debtor lists assets of $1,350, including $1,275 of insurance policies, and asks exemption on the full amount. Debts are shown as $810.24 of which $572 are unsecured. There are 18 unsecured items, mostly small. There is due Arlene Robotham, $100; Dr. E. B. Finney, $100, and Mrs. W. A. Knowlton, $97 50.

Petition for probate of the will of Elizabeth Schwindt, who died Aug. 20, was filed in county court. Her will left her estate to her brothers and sisters named as heirs in the petition in equal shares. The heirs are Henry Hahn, Colorado; William Hahn, Lincoln; Anton Hahn, Paxton; John Hahn, Elm Creek; Peter Hahn, Lincoln; Christian Hegel, Lincoln and Katherine E. Schmell, Wyoming. It was asked that William Hahn be made executor.

District Judge Chappell signed orders Saturday for the department of insurance to pay John C. Shephard a fee of $150 and Henry C. Moeller $610 in the case of the state ex rel Smrha vs. the Cosmopolitan Old Line Life Insurance company. The amount was to be paid from funds of the Cosmopolitan Old Line Life Insurance company which was in the hands of the department and the two were to be paid for work done in auditing accounts in connection with the suit for liquidation of the Cosmopolitan company whose assets were sold to the Lincoln Liberty Life Insurance company.

The railway commission Saturday adopted a motion of Commissioner Good that an inspector be immediately assigned to the stockyard section of Omaha, with commission credentials, authorizing him to inspect the books and accounts of the commission firms and order buyers operating at the Union stockyards. The inspector is to make reports with particular reference to truck rates paid by the firms and buyers on livestock transported from various points in the state, to find out if its schedules of rates are being followed. The state sheriff was asked to deputize all commission motor carrier inspectors.

Further testimony was taken by the railway commission Saturday on the application of the Eastern Nebraska public power district for authority to build 100 miles of lines in Cass and Saunders counties, to which the Nebraska Power company objects on the ground that it will be a duplication in part of the service it has already made available to farmers in the territory. Engineers for the district and the company were the witnesses. Each traced out on maps where the company already has lines, where the district proposes to build, and where the company has applications for authority to build in order to give the commissioners an accurate picture. Lincoln Telephone & Telegraph company intervened in order that its lines structed that year. He was made a professor when the dairy work became a separate department, and was chairman of dairy husbandry from 1908 until he resigned in 1911.

The present Holstein herd owned by the college was started thru the purchase by Mr. Haecker of two cows, Karen II in the 90's for less than $50 and LaMay in 1909 for $38, and from this herd have come world champion cows in several lines, including butterfat production, and much valuable show and breeder stock.

Mr. Haecker was active in the farm institutes which developed into the present agricultural extension service, and developed short courses for farmers at the college. He was an early advocate of corn ensilage. Mr. Haecker headed the State Dairymen's association in 1909 and 1910, was for a time secretary of the Nebraska Creamery Butter manufacturers and president of the National Silo Manufacturers association.

He left the college to become associated with a silo company operated by Woods Brothers and was once secretary of Lincoln Telephone company. Two years ago he was made chief of the dairy and creamery inspection division of the state department of agriculture.

Active in Public Work.

A member of chamber of commerce nearly 30 years, Mr Haecker was in the fore front of all committee work dealing with development of livestock and agriculture.

He was married to Helen Woods, sister of Mark, George and Frank Woods, about the time he came to Lincoln. She survives him, with a daughter, Mrs. Ardith Gramichof, Ashland, Wis., and three sons, David and George of Lincoln and Frederick of Omaha George left at once for Minnesota to return his father's body.

He was a member of First Congregational church and continued his affiliation with First-Plymouth.

"He rendered good service to the state and I deeply regret his untimely passing," Gov. Cochran said.

"This will be a great loss to the chamber of commerce," said Secy Whitten. "Arch Haecker was in there working every day from the time he became a member, 29 years ago last May."

Prof. T. L. Haecker of St. Paul, Minn., who died this summer at the age of 92, was A. L. Haecker's father, and also prominent in dairy development, being widely known as the "father" of co-operative creameries. He taught at University of Minnesota for many years.

The funeral will probably be held Tuesday.

ORDERS DISTRICT

order where the conditions of a previous order directed that transmission lines be provided with sufficient clearance, and points out that the district, at the time it asked for authority to build must have had in its possession the letter of John M. Carmody, head of REA, which plainly stated no expense to remove inductive interference would be borne by it. Under the circumstances, it says, it would have been a wise procedure for the district to delay construction until the administration had changed its ruling.

The commission says at the time the original order was entered it knew, and so did the district, that construction of proposed lines would interfere with reasonable efficiency of the telephone lines. It could have denied the application and would have denied it to the extent of the parallels, had it been told the district would not pay the expense of metalicizing.

Robert Van Pelt, an attorney for the district, said the district would comply with the commission's order and that the question of whether an appeal will be taken to the supreme court would be determined at the next meeting of the board Sept. 5.

"My guess is that the district will tear out its lines in the Unadilla territory and probably not try to serve that area," Van Pelt said.

WALLACE ASKS FARM OFFICIALS CONVENE

Wants Nations to Formulate Principles to Assure Them a Fair Income.

ST. ANNE DE BELLEVUE, Quebec. (AP). Secy. Wallace of the United States department of agriculture proposed that farm officials of all nations meet to formulate a set of principles designed to assure farming classes a "fair" share of the world's income.

Such principles, he said, should eliminate barriers to international trade and should assure each agricultural exporting nation its proper share of the world markets.

Mr. Wallace spoke before an international conference of agricultural economists at Macdonald college.

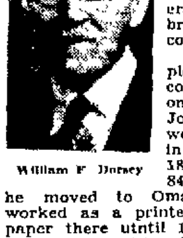
"I am convinced," he said, "that all nations could agree on the desirability of systems of agriculture which will maintain soil fertility and which will tend to give the farm section of the population a fair share of the national income."

WASHINGTON. (AP). The United States, getting ready to spend up to $25,000,000 to subsidize wheat exports, told the world in effect Saturday that it intended to hold its foreign markets for agricultural products, even if forced to use international trade practices the administration has condemned.

Secy. Wallace made this clear in addressing an international convention of agricultural economists in Canada, and it was reiterated by agriculture department officials already working on the wheat subsidy program

VETERAN PRINTER A GUEST

William F. Dorsey, 89, retired government printer, will return to Washington, D. C., Sunday evening. He had been visiting with his brother, George D. Dorsey, 620 No. 14th st., and other Lincoln relatives for the past week. Since his retirement in 1920 Dorsey has made several trips to Nebraska and Lincoln.



William F Dorsey

He was employed as a compositor here on The State Journal and the weekly "Optic" in 1882 and 1883, living at 844 S. In 1883 he moved to Omaha, and he worked as a printer on a daily paper there utntil 1889. He then secured a position in the United States printing office in Washington. For 25 years he was a proofreader and was then promoted to a foremanship, from which he retired in 1920. Dorsey will be 90 years old next March 18.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Dorsey, son and daughter-in-law of the veteran printer, accompanied him to Lincoln. The younger Dorsey is a property and supply clerk in the National Archives building at Washington, D. C.

CITY HALL NEWS.

Director Erickson, who has long given thought to the land-fill method of refuse and garbage disposal, has received a letter from New York advising that a year's trial in that city, under the New York department of sanitation, has emphasized merit of the plan. Cost figures on land fill operation, the engineer writes, indicate a saving of 75 percent as compared with disposal by incineration. This new method, it is claimed, minimizes nuisances usually associated with garbage disposal. It is conceded that because of much low land in and about Lincoln, the land-fill method could be carried on here indefinitely. Under this plan, garbage and refuse are exposed only long enough to dump in a trench, earth being taken from the next trench to cover over. No estimate has been made on cost of necessary dragline equipment. Since no provision is made in the budget for the new fiscal year, it is apparent that a departure from present disposal methods is not contemplated for the immediate future

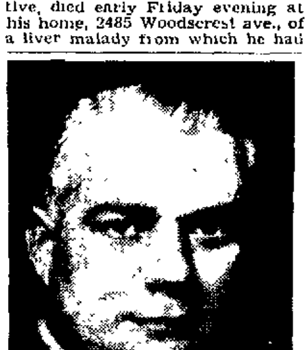
On Monday the council will sing a swan song for the current fiscal year The new year opens Sept 5 Since that is Labor day, activities under the new budget will get under way on Sept 6, except those of such character which do not give holiday recognition--police, fire, water and light and perhaps some others Department heads are spending these days closing the accounts for the old year -- trying to get all bills paid up out of the old money in order to start fresh

Formal petitions were filed with the city clerk, involving four signers Saturday asking for the paving of Lake street 27th to Sheridan in district No 878 Informal petitions asking for creation of a district to include Calvert, Sheridan west to Woodbine, also were filed There are three signers, all residents of Calvert Place In both instances petitioners contemplate 45 percent federal aid under the recent PWA grant.

A. E. FAULKNER DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

President of Woodmen Accident Insurance Company Since 1931.

A. E. "Bert" Faulkner, 48, wealthy Lincoln insurance executive, died early Friday evening at his home, 2485 Woodscrest ave., of a liver malady from which he had been ailing for several months. Besides directing three Lincoln insurance corporations, he had been president since May 26, 1938, of the national conference of health and accident underwriters, which included 156 outstanding companies of the United States.



A. E. FAULKNER.

Formerly vice president of the Woods Bros. corporation, Mr. Faulkner succeeded to the presidency of the Woodmen Accident company in 1931 upon the death of his brother, E. J. Faulkner. His father, Albert O. Faulkner, founded the Woodmen company in 1890. Under direction of the elder Faulkner and his sons it became one of the largest in the middlewest

Organized Southside Midgets.

Next to his family and his insurance companies, Faulkner's greatest interest was probably his well known "Southside Midgets," youngster athletic group which he organized several years ago. Made up of three squads, juniors, seniors and midgets, the organization expanded to take in nearly 250 youngsters now.

Faulkner equipped them and took them on frequent trips at his own expense. Football fans will remember the Midget skirmishes between halves of university football games. His south side group is said to be the largest ever undertaken by an individual.

Founded Woodmen Central.

Faulkner was chairman of the board of directors of the Woodmen Central Health Co. In 1935, he established a new company, the Woodmen Central Life, of which he was general manager.

Altho failing for several months, he had been going to his office for an hour or two daily until last week when his illness became more acute. On Thursday, the day before his death, he spoke on a telephone broadcast to his agencies in various parts of the country.

For a few days in the latter part of July he had been in a Lincoln hospital for treatment but improved sufficiently to return to his home. The attending physician termed the disease cirrhosis of the liver.

A resident of Lincoln all his life, Mr. Faulkner had attended Lincoln high school and Culver Military academy. In 1918 he married Eugenia Woods, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Mark W. Woods. He was a member of the Country club, the University club, the chamber of commerce and Westminster Presbyterian church.

He was born in 1890 at York, Neb.

Surviving are his widow, Eugenia W.; a son, Clark, 19, sophomore in the University of Nebraska; a daughter, Eugenia, 17; a brother, Richard W., vice president of the Woodmen company; and a sister, Mrs. George DeLacy of Omaha. The body is at Roberts pending funeral arrangements.

ASKS PHONE SERVICE REFUSED TO BOOKIES

Omaha Police Take Hope From Similar Action In Chicago.

OMAHA (AP) Assistant Police Chief Munch said he will ask the Northwestern Bell Telephone company to decline service to known horse race booking establishments, as an aid to the city bookie drive. Munch's statement was a result of assurance given at Chicago by the Illinois Bell Telephone company to State's Attorney Courtney that 17 bookie resorts wrecked by his ax squads would lose their telephone service, considered a vital instrument in bookie operations

Mayor Butler previously sought such telephone company action here and received a promise of "all possible co-operation," from President A. A. Lowman, who pointed out rules and regulations require the company to provide service to all applicants.

Meanwhile, a special committee of the Omaha Bar association, decided there is no reason the association should send representatives into district court when a habeas corpus hearing for Munch is held Tuesday. Munch was jailed by Police Judge Holmes for contempt when he refused to return evidence gathered in a bookie raid. Two Omaha attorneys named Friday resigned from the bar committee because they have represented defendants in bookie cases.

ADVENTIST MEET TO CLOSE

Rev. H. T. Elliott Preaches at Morning Service

Piety is an uncompromising attitude toward sin, Rev. H. T. Elliott of Washington, D. C., told the congregation in the Seventh Day Adventist church in College View Saturday morning in his sermon which marked the final day of the state convention.

"Men cannot please God when they mix good and bad," he said, adding that being a church member and morally free from criticism does not make a man really ready to follow God's leadership. Students of Bible prophecy, he said, cannot but be convinced that the second coming of Christ is imminent. "Preparation for the kingdom of heaven is not the work of a moment but of a lifetime," he said.

At the 8 o'clock devotional hour, Rev. O. T. Garner, president of the Christian living comes from the heart and must be the result of earnest and sincere desire. At 3, Rev. E. C. Boger talked. At 7:30 p. m. there will be a program sponsored by Union college.

COUNTY GOVERNMENT IS STILL PARAMOUNT

Senning So Summarizes Survey Made of Nebraska by WPA Project.

A survey of Nebraska county government has been made as a WPA project, under the sponsorship of the department of political science of the University of Nebraska, of which John P. Senning is chairman. This report, it is announced, is made up of factual data and statistical information taken from official county records whose accuracy and reliability have been accepted at face value. It is announced that the study of government in Nebraska will be continued and that this report is largely a preliminary effort.

In a foreword Dr. Senning says that county government in Nebraska is still the chief center of political life for the average citizen. "As a primary unit of local self-government it performs indispensable services in the protection of life and property, in the administration of justice, public health and welfare, in the construction and maintenance of all weather highways, in the operation of public schools and libraries, and in a great variety of other duties demanded by modern community life. What activities shall be undertaken and how they shall be administered is a responsibility which, under our theory of self government, rests squarely upon the voters. Nor can they escape their share of responsibility if, thru inertia, they tolerate inefficiency and waste in the management of county affairs."

Dr. Senning holds that despite criticism directed in recent years against county government it does not follow that popular government is synonymous with inefficiency and waste. The hardships borne by the taxpayers in recent years have produced an awareness on the part of the public of the increasing burden of taxation. A consequence has been that the people have become local government conscious.

The report deals with the growth and law of county government in Nebraska and points out that no fundamental changes have taken place in the structure of county government since the state's beginning. Graphs and tabular information included indicate the range of county government and its requirements. Much attention is given to county expenditures and to purposes for which they are made. It is shown that the bonded county debt in the state, owed by 22 counties, amounts to $4,190,500. Bonds were issued for the purposes of courthouse building, bridge building, funding floating indebtedness and for refunding other bond issues. A comparison is made of prices paid for materials bought by counties and also by state purchasing agencies. Attention is given to the size of Nebraska counties and the expensive setups necessary for the smaller counties in the state. Enough statistical matter is included to make the report a valuable text book for the study of county and tax problems

Dr. Senning indicates that this is the beginning of a more extensive survey, and that it may be regarded merely as a preliminary report.

had a union card. He told him he did not and they are alleged to have told them, Towle said, that he could not drive a truck unless he had a card.

Means asked to be permitted to call the police and Officers Schappaugh and Robbins took the three men to the police station and from there to the county attorney's office Towle said that in a case of this kind if the complainant was willing to testify he would file a complaint and attempt to make it safe for anyone to drive a truck The union men and Means had some discussion at the county attorney's office and Towle told Means if he wanted to make complaint he would draw one.

There is no strike involved, nor is there one threatened, according to Harry Tankersley, secretary of local No. 608. He said the activities of the two organizers were in line with a membership drive.

Chief Anderson said he had no comment to make on the Saturday morning incident.

"To us it is merely legal procedure, arresting men against whom a private citizen is filing a complaint," a detective explained.

Tankersley, business agent for the union, characterized the arrest of Hill and Jefferys as part of a "deliberate campaign to harass our union." For several days police, he said, have been trailing the union car while officers were collecting dues in the wholesale district

The Central Labor union, Tankersley added, is now investigating the incident with a view to protesting the police's action before the city council.

DR. B. F. SCHWARTZ TO HEAD WESLEYAN

Iowa Pastor to Take Place of Dr. Upperman, Board Announces.

The Nebraska Wesleyan university board of trustees announced Friday afternoon the selection of Dr. Benjamin F. Schwartz, pastor of the Indianola, Ia., Methodist church, as chancellor to succeed Dr. Harry L Upperman, who resigned Aug. 16, six months after his appointment. Dr. Schwartz had announced earlier in the week he had accepted the Wesleyan position pending the board's decision.

DR. B. F. SCHWARTZ.

No definite word had been received by the board as to the time of the new chancellor's arrival in Lincoln, but it was expected he would arrive about Sept. 1 to take over the work here.

Dr. Schwartz has had considerable experience in the educational field. Since 1928 he has been lifework secretary and secretary of counseling in Young People's institute work, having been on the faculty of institutes at Mount Pleasant, Ia., Clear Lake, Ia., Lincoln, Watertown and Pactola, S. D. He has been a member of the Iowa-Dakota School of Ministerial Training, Indianola, Ia., since 1930. He is accredited by the International Council of Christian Education to teach four courses in leadership training, has been many times a member of the leadership training school faculty at Moline, Ill., Des Moines, Ia., Muscatine, Ia., and other places, and was for two years a member of the Simpson college board of trustees.

The new Wesleyan chancellor was born on a farm near Cannellton, Ind., in 1897, and he came with his parents to Iowa in 1904. He was educated in the Iowa public schools, received an A. B. from Grinnell college in 1919 (Phi Beta Kappa), an S. T. B from the Boston university school of theology in 1922, and a D. D. degree from Iowa Wesleyan college in 1932.

He married Wanda Gertrude Eells in 1922, and they have two children, Theodore William, 15, and Wanda Carol, 13.

TEN DAY DEMOCRATS WON'T RUN MEETING

No ten day democrats are going to control the democratic state convention next Thursday at Columbus, Judge Quigley of Valentine, state chairman, said here Saturday.

That was all Quigley had to say definitely about the meeting, but it adds fuel to the fire that Terry Carpenter, candidate for lieutenant governor, has been announcing he will build under Quigley. Carpenter was not mentioned by Quigley.

Pointing out that the last two state conventions have confessed something needs to be done about the primary system, Quigley said he had no idea what the convention would do about it this time

"Fat cattle, for which we get good prices, green grass and optimism all around," said Quigley, are the general rule in his territory, and hinted he thought it would hold that part of the state for the democrats.

He doesn't know whether or not he'll be a candidate to succeed himself as chairman He is already a candidate for national committeeman.

CIVIL WAR VETERAN DIES

WAHOO, Neb. (AP). Nathan D. Tharp, 96, Wahoo's last surviving Civil war veteran, died Friday night in a hospital here following a short illness

Nathan D Tharp.

Tharp, a Wahoo resident 50 years, enlisted in the Union army at Clinton, in 1862 with company I, Second infantry. From May to September, 1864, his company engaged in 21 battles and Tharp was one of 96 survivors of a regiment of 900 when it left Chattanooga, Tenn., after the fighting.

Tharp cast his first vote for Abraham Lincoln at Rome, Ga. He was in a division with Gen. Sherman and saw Gen. Joseph Johnson surrender his southern army at Durham Station, N. C., in 1865 Tharp received an honorary discharge the same year and in 1869 homesteaded near Valparaiso, Neb. One son, Dee, of Omaha, survives. On Aug. 19 he won a prize for being the oldest male pioneer attending the Saunders county old settlers picnic The American Legion and Auxiliary gave him a reception on his birthday, May 22.

LOVELY HILL CENTER BOARD MAKES PLANS

Work Temporarily in Hands of Committees; Street Surfacing Assured.

Temporary plans for continuance of Lovely Hill community center were discussed at a meeting of the board Friday night at the A. N. Park residence, looking toward a financial campaign and a definite arrangement with Butler Avenue Congregational church trustees for the coming year.

The institution has been housed in the church building since its inception more than a year ago. For the time being, its operation will continue under committees of the board.

Assurance of rock surfacing for many blocks of streets in Belmont and surrounding areas was reported by H. M. Fritts, whose committee is also working for city water and sewer service.

The road committee will hold a special public meeting Monday night at the church. Mrs. E. V. Likens submitted a report of profits for the treasury from a recent benefit for the community house.

Action on a form of lease with the church trustees was deferred, as was a consideration of needed repairs on the building. Mrs. Mary Mapes of the finance committee was authorized to prepare a tentative budget for submission to the board and to the council of social agencies.

WOODMEN PLAN FIELD DAY

Big Assembly Set for Sunday at Capital Beach.

Members of the Woodmen of the World and their families will attend a big field day assembly at Capital Beach Sunday afternoon. During the basket lunch field day picnic the Woodmen of the World band, James Splichal, conductor, will play. More than 1,000 are expected. Director Lewis of the Recreational board, is lending assistance with contests and field events. A feature at 2:30 p. m. will be a soft ball game between girls teams of Pleasant Dale and Davey. At 4:30 p. m. many athletic contests will be ushered in—events for men, women and children with grand prizes for the winners. State Manager C. L. Burmester will give a short address. Free ice cream is on the docket and the basket lunch is set for 6 p. m.

TIP TO LIQUOR MEN.

Deputy City Attorney Miles Friday, without passing on constitutionality of the ordinance, advised a party who asked regarding limitation, if any, on the provision that retail liquor and beer dealers in Lincoln cannot advertise, that to use the name of the operator and the words "package store" would be in violation. The attorney advised that since "package store" presumably applies to liquor only, any such limited advertisement would be advertising the business of a liquor dealer.

Miss Nebraska Excited Picking Her Wardrobe for Atlantic City

Excited!

Who wouldn't be excited? And thrilled too? With an entire afternoon to spend choosing a wardrobe without a care as to the cost or where the money is coming from.

That's what happened to Emajoe Newby, "Miss Nebraska," who is leaving Saturday of next week for Atlantic City to compete for the title "Miss America."

The beauty queen, just after an interview Saturday noon on the radio, made herself at home at a downtown ready to wear department. The center of attention, she spent the entire aternoon buying her gowns.

Very nervous and excited over the whole thing, Miss Newby very definitely expressed her views on clothes, choosing frocks of simplicity and smartness. She insisted on them being well fitted. She loves black.

'Crazy About Clothes.'

Exuberant is a mild term to describe the spontaneity of her remarks, such as "Oh I'm bugs about that one. Why didn't you bring it out first?" and "I'm crazy about clothes, I just love this."

Closing hour of the shop found only a black velvet afternoon frock, a peach colored evening gown, trimmed in brown velvet, and her bathing apparel, a two piece lastex blue satin and a wool number chosen. The attractive blue eyed brunette, has an allotment of two afternoon frocks, two formals, two bathing suits, one street ensemble and one light weight fall coat, with all accessories to match.

'Doesn't Mean a Thing.'

Upon being questioned concerning her black onyx and diamond ring, she smilingly blushed, and said "It really doesn't mean anything—much. You see its on the wrong hand."

Miss Newby, who graduated from high school this spring, has no plans for fall until after the contest. If she wins, of course she will go to Hollywood, in which she is very much interested. Otherwise it will probably be to college somewhere.

Mother Goes Along.

Mrs. Rex Newby will accompany her daughter on the trip. "I couldn't go without mother," said Emajoe. "I need her to help me dress, 'n take care of me."

"Miss Nebraska" and her mother will go first to Philadelphia where the other contestants will also meet, going in a group to Atlantic City. She is looking forward to the adventure and hopes to bring Nebraska all the honors.

Contract Bridge

[Copyright: 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: Knowing your public is interested in unusual hands, I am going to tell you of one that came up in our regular rubber bridge game. As I happened to be the hero, I naturally am proud of the hand. I had to use a double squeeze, plus a delayed finesse, which I believe is a little variation.

"The bidding:

"West opened a trump and, when the dummy appeared, it seemed to me that North had done some pretty tall bidding. It was true that he had three aces and good spade support, not to mention a couple of jacks, but I had given no encouragement after my opening bid, and there surely were a lot of losers in his hand. However, I saw that if I was lucky enough to find a couple of cards right, it would not be too difficult to make twelve tricks.

"I won the opening lead in my own hand, and laid down the club queen. If I had found the king on my left I could easily have established two club tricks for diamond discards, and then a heart finesse would bring me home. East, however, had the club king and, winning with it, shot back the diamond king. I won and now saw that I would have to find the club jack on my left. So, after laying down a high spade to draw the other outstanding trump, I led a club and finessed with the eight spot, which held. The club ace failed to drop the jack, but I still did not give up hope. I discarded a diamond on the club ace and then ran off trumps, until my own hand was one spade, the Q-6 of hearts, and the 10 of diamonds. I had reduced dummy to the A-J-4 of hearts and the 10 of clubs. Now, when I played the last spade, West was in trouble. At this point he held the K-10 and a low heart, and the jack of clubs. Naturally, he could not let go the club so he had to come down to the blank K-10 of hearts. Dummy's club having served its purpose, I then discarded it. Now it was East's turn to squirm. He could not let go the diamond queen [my ten would be good] and, therefore, he also had to reduce to two hearts. I led the heart queen and, when West covered, dummy's A-J-4 became good. Obviously, if West had not covered, I would have finessed with the same result.

"Of course, if West had had the hunch to open diamonds, the squeeze would have been impossible.

"G. B. S., Altoona, Pa."

Undoubtedly the slam contract was ambitious, but at least it gave my correspondent the opportunity to distinguish himself in the play.

INDUSTRY STILL GAINING

Earlier 1938 Decline Now More Than Recovered.

NEW YORK, (AP). Industrial activity in the United States continued its rapid summer upturn in the latest available figures and has more than recovered the loss recorded in the first half of 1938.

Rising for the seventh consecutive jumped to 77.8 compared with 76.3 the preceding week. The improvement started from a low of 65.8 at the end of last spring. A year ago, when business was beginning to decline from the 1937 recovery peaks, the index stood at 104.4. Average industrial levels for the years 1929-30 are taken to equal 100 in the computation of this measure device.

Steel, electric power and residential building contributed further gains to the advance of the composite figure. A little lower, allowing for seasonal fluctuations, were automobile production and cotton manufacturing.

But rated by many as the most significant trend was an unbroken upswing in residential building, further increasing the margin of improvement over comparable 1937 figures. The residential building index, on the rise since last March, attained an index figure of 68.5 compared with 63.9 a year ago, having risen this year from around 41.

The index and its components, adjusted for seasonal variations, compared as follows:

	Latest week	Previous week	Year ago
Composite index ...	*77.8	76.3	104.4
Auto production ..	31.9	32.0	102.1
Steel mill activity	*57.4	54.2	112.5

ACCUSES SLAIN FATHER

Incest Charged in Washington, Pa., Case.

WASHINGTON, (AP). Dist. Atty James C. Bane told how a 12 year old girl's mumbling in her sleep disclosed incestuous relations with her foreign born father whom she later killed. Irene Giricz, only daughter of Steve Giricz, 53, accused her father of mistreating her and abusing her mother. An information filed by county detectives charged the girl with murder.

Bane said the child accused her father of having illicit relations with her when she was nine years old and added that she had confessed planning the shooting for a month but was "just waiting for a chance."

Giricz, a native of Hungary and a WPA worker, lived with his family in an old farmhouse in a nearby mining village in southwestern Pennsylvania. It was there that he was shot in the back of the head Thursday as he ate breakfast.

The child declared she had kept secret the alleged three year old mistreatment by her father until it became known to the mother when Irene talked of it in her sleep.

The child told how Giricz had once threatened her and her mother with a gun, then threw it to the floor, breaking the stock. Irene said she bound it together with adhesive tape and practiced shooting, using tin cans for targets.

FRENCH FLIERS KILLED.

PAU, France. (AP). Two accidents to army airplanes Friday night took eight lives, bringing to 17 the number of French army and navy flying men killed in accidents in less than a week. On a night training flight one bomber crashed in the woods after explosions aboard and the bodies of two noncommissioned officers and two captains were found badly burned.

THE GERMAN EMPRESS WHO NEVER SAW GERMANY. Jolanthe (1212-1228), the daughter of Jean, the king of Jerusalem, married the German emperor Freidrich II, in Andria, now in the province of Bari, Italy, on Nov. 9, 1225. Altho she thus became the German empress, she never set foot on German soil. Her son was Emperor Konrad IV of Germany, but Jolanthe lies buried in the cathedral of Andria, where she died.

I don't know of another place in the world where 29 railroads operate one on top of the other—3 above and 26 below the ground.

Health Talks

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN
President,
Chicago Board of Health

NOT VERY many years ago, a much larger number of infants died from so-called summer diarrhea than the number that die from this disease today. Yet, in some parts of the country, diarrhea continues to take a large toll of infant lives. In Kentucky, according to Dr. M. C. Spradlin, of that state, more than one child out of every seven that died before reaching one year of age, during 1937, succumbed to this disease.

We find the trouble more prevalent in warm than in cold weather. This is probably due to the fact that foods tend to spoil more quickly in hot weather and spoiled food often causes diarrhea. Then, too, when the temperatures are high, the body may not be as resistant to infection.

Give Pure Water

If certain general rules are followed by the mother, the chances for babies getting this disease will be lessened. Care must be taken that the baby is given pure water. The water should be boiled to insure its purity. The same is true for milk. The milk should be pasteurized or boiled to make certain that the germs which cause disease are destroyed. The infant should be kept from getting overheated.

If the infant is breast fed, no concern need be felt about his milk supply. On the other hand, if he is not breast fed, his diet should be carefully planned. New foods, when first started, should be given in small amounts and gradually increased. Cereals should be started in small amounts only and day by day gradually increased. Vegetables also should be introduced into the infant's diet with caution during the hot summer months.

Diarrhea is often brought on by infections in the body such as those that may occur in the throat or ears. A cold, sore throat or running ear may all tend to bring on diarrhea. So every effort must be made to keep infections from developing in infants.

Much Water Lost.

In diarrhea, with the frequent passage of material from the bowels, much water is lost from the body. So, in treating the condition, it is necessary that this water be replaced. If the baby is not vomiting, fluids may be given by mouth. If the child is vomiting, water may be given into the rectum, or by injection under the skin, into a vein. Salt solutions may be used satisfactorily for this purpose. Solutions of a sugar known as glucose may also be employed. In more severe cases, blood transfusions every day or two may be found life saving.

It is important also that the infant be given plenty of rest. The child should be kept in bed, warm and comfortable. In hot weather the coolest room available should be chosen.

In treating diarrhea a period of starvation, varying from eight to 12 hours, or even longer, is advisable. In this way the intestines are given a chance to rest.

Breast milk is, of course, the best food that can be given when treating diarrhea in babies. If breast milk cannot be obtained, protein milk or buttermilk may be used.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

"I am expecting a baby within the next six or seven months. Last year I lost a baby because it was born too soon. Is there something that I could take which might help me?" -Mrs. R. L. A.

Answer: Several preparations have been suggested which may be useful in helping the mother carry her baby to the full-term of pregnancy. One of these is vitamin E, such as is furnished by wheat-germ oil. It may be advisable that you begin at once taking this preparation under the directions of your physician. Another preparation that has been suggested is progestin (pro-jes'-tin), which is a gland extract from the ovaries. This preparation is given by injection into a muscle. Your physician will also advise you concerning it. Many doctors report excellent results from these preparations.

BREAKS HIP IN FALL.

Alf G. Anderson, 83, 6901 Platte, contractor who aided in construction of the Nebraska state capitol building, suffered a fractured pelvis and a hip injury when he slipped and fell while walking down the capitol steps Friday afternoon. He was taken to Lincoln General hospital for treatment where physicians described his condition as "fair."

SUIT OVER COLLISION.

Suit for $10,000 damages was filed in district court Friday by Mary Hudkins against Jacob and Pauline Neiderhaus. The suit grew out of an automobile collision at 10th and Q sts. on July 11. The suit was filed by Attorney L. R. Doyle.

Goodnight Stories

By MAX TRELL

THEN KNARF, the shadow boy, came into the playroom. When he saw the rag doll his eyes opened wide in astonishment.

"Why, Mary Jane! Where is your face?"

"It was washed away, Knarf. Laddie, the puppy, thought he could lick away the smudges, and he licked away my whole face."

"All you've got left are your two shoe-button eyes."

"Yes," she sighed. And two little black drops came rolling out of her eyes and made streaks down the place where her cheeks used to be.

"Just wait till the children see her," the Tin Soldier, standing by the door with his musket over his shoulder, said at that moment.

Mr. Punch, who really felt sorry for poor Mary Jane, said: "The only thing to do is to get Mary Jane a new face before the children come in."

Can't Buy Faces

"A very good idea," the stuffed teddy bear said. "Only where can anyone get her a new face? That's what I'd like to know."

"Teddy Bear is right," the painted duck on wheels agreed. "You can't buy faces in a store as you can a pound of sugar. Faces have to grow on you. I've had my face ever since the day I was born."

Knarf thought and thought. At last he said: "Mary Jane didn't have a regular face. It was just a painted face. That's the reason the puppy was able to lick it off. It's got to be painted on again."

"Yes—but who's going to do it?" cried the toys. "Who can paint it on again?"

"I don't know." Then he sat down and thought some more. He couldn't do it himself. No one in the whole playroom could do it.

He was about to say: "Well, Mary Jane, I guess you'll have to do without a face from now on—" But just then he glanced at the rag doll and saw her weeping harder than ever.

So he didn't say a word but put his hand to his forehead and thought harder and harder.

REPORTS JEWELRY THEFT

Mrs. I. M. McIntosh, 1631 M, reported to police that a prowler had broken into her home during the last few days and made off with jewelry valued at $55. Articles listed as stolen included two wrist watches and a case, a ladies arm bracelet, a gild ring and a gold locket.

Marriage Meddlers

A Sequel to "Married Comrades"

By Adele Garrison

I COULD not imagine what Lillian meant by saying, "Mary! Yes it all fits in", in reply to my assertion that nobody except Mary knew that I had learned anything about the menace hanging over Dicky.

Swiftly I went back over my colloquy with her. Nothing I had said could possibly be construed as an assertion or even a conjecture that Mary was cognizant of anything concerning the mystery surrounding her uncle, save what I myself had told her. Yet, Lillian evidently believed that she did. Then that meant –

The kaleidoscope of my mind turned again, bringing two memories of voices: Mary's when she had said, "I know something about this", and now Lillian's, admitting, "I know a little". And yet, neither of them had vouchsafed any hint of what their knowledge might be. I wondered if their silence meant that they feared to hurt me by telling me what they knew, or were they perhaps not sure of what their knowledge meant, and were unwilling to alarm me by conjectures until they could check and verify their information?

Can't Question Them

Only one thing stood out clearly: Until either of them chose to tell me, I could not query them concerning what they knew. Something deep within me forbade that. But I could—and did—feel, at Lillian's nearness to me, as if I were an exhausted swimmer sighting a life raft. I felt also, indeed, I knew, that I must tell her every detail I could remember of the bizarre experiences I had passed through in my brief sojourn at the Lansfield.

"I suppose I should begin at the beginning," I told her, and she replied with a laconic "please" that quickened my pace—mental and oral—as if it had been a rowel.

"You were with me when it began," I said. "You remember, in New Hampshire, at the camp, when the letter from Edith came?"

"Yes, I remember," she said, and I interrupted my tale with a question which had been troubling me ever since that day.

"Did you ever hear from Edith?" I asked.

She gave a short, metallic laugh.

Recalls Telegram

"Did I? And how!" she said. "You know what I told you I was going to wire her?"

"That I was too busy to deal with her, and that you would represent me, but that if she told Dicky of your intervention, you would see to it that her plea for getting back to the magazine would be denied."

"Your memory isn't failing," she commented. "Well! I sent the telegram, and received one in reply reading something like this: 'Have no choice but to accede to your terms but consider it nothing more nor less than blackmail. Sometime it may be my turn. In the meantime will do as you say. Am writing.'"

Didn't Write

"Oh!" I said, and relapsed into shocked silence.

"Exactly," Lillian commented dryly. "That's the way it affected me."

"Did she write?" I faltered.

"Not a line," Lillian answered. "She appears to have gone into the silence, a la Mahatma Gandhi. Let's hope she stays there, at least until we get this other mess straightened out. Don't waste any more time upon her. Spill me the beans about the Dicky-bird."

"Just after Edith's letter came," I began. "Dicky said that he wished I would arrange to come into the city for a while, saying that he might need me 'at a minute's notice'. He seemed to look upon Mr. Veritzen's request to have me share Mary's apartment as a direct boon from the gods, so I planned to go into the city at once and stay as long as he needed me. And then—"

My voice trailed off at the remembrance of that telephone call to Dicky at the Lansfield from the drunken woman, and the effort of the hotel manager to keep me from knowing the truth. For a moment it did not seem possible to repeat that humiliating experience, and Lillian evidently fathomed my feeling, for her voice was indulgently tender as she said:

"Take your time, old Dear. You didn't suppose I thought this was a chapter from a Sunday school story, did you?"

BERLE TO QUIT BUREAU

Assistant Secretary of State Resigns.

HYDE PARK, N. Y. (AP). President Roosevelt accepted the resignation of Adolf A. Berle, jr., as assistant secretary of state, and wrote that Berle had given the administration "splendid co-operation." Berle's resignation is effective Sept. 15. Summer white house authorities said he would return to his law professorship at Columbia university.

ATTEND "LINCOLN DAY."

More than 20 members of the chamber of commerce went to Beatrice Friday afternoon to attend "Lincoln day" at the Gage county fair. They were special guests of the fair during the afternoon horse racing events. The trip was one of a series of good-will tours sponsored by the chamber of commerce. Charles Warner, speaking for the chamber, invited Gage county residents to attend the state fair in Lincoln Sept. 4 to 11.

CORNFIELD RALLY

A cornfield rally has taken the place of the grassroots convention as a means of stirring republican sentiment A large gathering of republicans met on an Indiana farm Saturday and tickled some of the problems which face the party, and the nation The rally was sponsored by a New York manufacturer who said commenting on the meeting

'We can't beat those democrats with firecrackers I'm sick and tired of listening to business men and others cuss the new deal and do nothing about it

The cornfield rally does beat mere cussing of the new deal It represents a form of direct action which may bring some results It should at least have the effect of bolstering the spirits of those who attend

Among those who are tired of hearing people cuss the new deal and do nothing about it are some who wonder what good a cornfield rally will do Cornfield rallies and grassroots conventions are not of necessity constructive affairs

The problem which faces the republican party and the nation is one of evolving a program which will bring some sort of solution to the nation's difficulties That is easier said than done of course Yet the voters of the nation demand no less They are demanding a program that promises a solution and carries with it an air of conviction

The new deal had some of those qualities in its day Its air of conviction was slight but the voting public's doubts were swept away in the breeze of a radiant personality Now the public is a bit more skeptical and a bit harder to convince but it is ready to fall in line behind a program that promises in the light of past experiences, to begin the untangling of the tightly wound snarl in which national affairs are now found

PRIMARY AMENDMENTS

Much of the criticism of the "closed' primary is that the primary isn't closed at all There are other criticisms of course but this is the one that the president and others have emphasized The objection is that in the unregistered areas republicans vote the democratic ticket and democrats vote the republican ticket That trouble is not altogether controlled in the registered areas Occasionally a few days before the primary voters change their registration That is they amend the registration to indicate that they belong to another political party That permits them to demand a ticket of a party with which they have not affiliated in the past

The closed primary was designed to be used by parties It was to nominate party tickets The nomination was to be made by members of the party In the unregistered areas the voter calls for the ticket he desires The primary election boards have very little discretion in the matter If the man claims to be a democrat or a republican there is no record to which they may refer to prove or disprove The suggestion is made that the closed primary should be made to live up to its name

To prevent voters from jumping from one party to another in Nebraska for instance would require an all state registration It would be necessary to register every voter in the state That would be expensive and would not insure as large a vote as the primary now produces A great many country people would neglect to register When they called for a ballot on primary election day they could be served with a non political ballot only Every voter may vote in the primary for non political candidates There it is not a question of party

There is a great diversity of opinion among the voters themselves as to what should be done to improve the primary law One suggestion has been made that the ballot might be shortened by making all county officers non political candidates That might not have the desired effect The objection to it is that it would tend to tear down the organization of parties Party organizations are built largely around county officials Party lines do not hold as closely in county contests as others but party organization depends largely on those who seek offices There is also objection to shortening the ballot by making many offices appointive The argument against that is that it makes the appointing power all powerful politically The man who appoints has an opportunity for building up a political machine

One suggestion made at the republican county convention was that the best features of the primary system and the convention system be combined into a new law that was described as ideal The difficulty there is to arrange a combination of the best features in a manner that will draw a minimum of criticism

TAXATION PROSPECTS

The Iowa association of taxpayers finds that the property owners of that state will have a 4 percent increase in the total amount of taxes that will be paid Very few of the political subdivisions have been able to reduce their expenses and most of them were forced to increase expenditures No figures have yet been printed for Nebraska but the fragmentary reports that have been scanned indicate that the same condition prevails in this state In Iowa higher salaries are being paid teachers this year which largely accounts for a 3 15 percent increase in school taxes The counties with poor relief mothers pensions and other forms of public assistance report an increase of 2 51 percent

The large increase is in the cities and towns 7 41 percent and this same condition may be found to exist in Nebraska because the same stimulus is the cause Under the lure of federal grants the cities and towns are voting bonds that add to the bond interest item using the proceeds to construct buildings that will increase maintenance costs Only a few municipalities have had the courage to turn down these offers and like a great many individuals who are receiving federal largess they fail to realize that in the main it is their own money the government at Washington is offering them as an inducement to back projects that will put idle men to work If put to a vote of the people with the people furnishing all the money nine out of ten of the projects would be turned down

A casual survey of appropriation bills of the Nebraska legislature discloses that while the totals continue to mount, administrative costs have not increased so far as these apply to agencies that have long been in existence As has been repeatedly pointed out the average citizen is against any increase in taxes but most of them support extensions of government authority and activities here and there which are responsible for the mounting cost of government blind to the fact that most special taxation eats up the substance of property

Democrats are looking for a row up at the Columbus state convention on Sept 1 Terry Carpenter nominee for lieutenant governor has indicated that he will make a fight on the re election of J C Quigley as state chairman Mr Quigley has held the positions of national committeeman and state chairman for the past two years In the past Mr Carpenter has been more successful with the voters than he has with the democratic machine The machine is behind Quigley and most of the predictions are that Mr Carpenter if he attempts to defeat Quigley will come out second best Something of an argument is expected also over resolutions relating to amending the primary law That argument will also come up in the republican convention at Fremont on the same date

In the United States heyday of Freudian psychology during the 20's nearly every intelligentsia bought at least one simple popularization of Freud's works and could reel off an impromptu psychoanalysis at the drop of a symbol says Time With depression Freud was more and more often supplanted either by such former disciples as Alfred Adler who called his adaptation individual psychology or by Karl Marx To some observers Freud's declining popularity among common readers looked permanent

But three months ago The Basic Writings of Sigmund Freud was published as a modern library giant The original edition cautiously figured to last six months was 10 000 copies With few critics paying it attention it sold out in 11 days A second edition of 20 000 copies has now dwindled to its last few thousand copies and Freud has come back as the fastest selling reprint thruout the United States

In London meanwhile living in exile in a rented house in St John's Wood with his wife and children the frail 82 year old Viennese inventor of psychoanalysis has become a concentration point for a half dozen leading U S publishers who are bidding for his incomplete next book Sums bid have not been disclosed but are called tremendous' meaning, probably somewhere between $10 000 and $25 000 That publishers are bidding on a good thing seems reasonably sure

DAVID LAWRENCE.

WASHINGTON — Changes in the Wagner labor act are coming at the next session of congress but they will not be changes which will weaken collective bargaining

Employer groups have in the last few days derived much encouragement from the announcement that President Roosevelt and William Green head of the American Federation of Labor have agreed that some amendments to the Wagner act should be made Where the employers will meet a surprise however is when they find out that Mr Green is really interested only in amendments which interfere with the opportunities of the A F of L for further membership drives and that none of the labor organizations will support the kind of amendments for instance just proposed by the chamber of commerce of the United States

Some of the proposals made by the chamber such as the grant to an employer of the right to petition the labor board for certification of the proper bargaining agency when there is a dispute between two rival units will doubtless be adopted but any attempt to revive the old coercion from any source idea taboo which has been the chief bone of contention from employers associations will find the A F of L and the C I O indifferent if not absolutely opposed

On paper it seems logical of course for employers as well as employes to be prohibited from using coercion or intimidation to gain their ends But the right to strike is a fundamental of labor philosophy and along with it goes the right to make membership drives without interference from employers If employes are coerced or intimidated they now have a right under state laws to enjoin the intimidators and even to sue them for damages but it is significant that thruout the whole three years of Wagner act operation instances of resort to state laws by employes as a protection against coercion or violence from fellow employes have been rare if indeed they have ever been filed anywhere

The majority in congress when this question of coercion from any source came up insisted that employes were already protected by state laws and that to put the anti coercion feature in the Wagner act would make the federal government a policeman in every labor dispute and would require taking over the state police powers The employer spokesmen point out that the Wagner act makes a policeman of the federal government now by allowing agents of the labor board to investigate and prosecute charges of coercion or intimidation against employers

The question for employers organizations to decide therefore is whether they want to concede the principle of federal police power over coercion and violence in labor disputes and ask for its extension to cover employes or whether they want to insist that the Wagner act be amended so that coercion is defined even with respect to employers as economic coercion only rather than physical violence This latter alternative would leave it to state laws to protect both employer and employe in the event that physical coercion or intimidation of a physical character is involved

Such a plan certainly would put both sides on equal terms If the distinction between physical and economic coercion is made then employers would still be restrained from using their economic power such as hiring non union men and rejecting or dismissing employes for union activities Likewise employers would continue to be restrained from interfering directly or indirectly in processes by which workmen chose their bargaining representatives or agents

What mostly is needed by way of amendment to existing law is a penalty for employes or their organizations which file mischievous charges with the labor board thus taking up the time of the board and inflicting economic loss on the employers thru the bringing of charges requiring litigation when such charges are themselves of no real point in connection with recognition of bona fide unions

Perhaps more alertness on the part of the board in administering the existing act would take care of annoying incidents of this type which cause labor disputes to become bitter and prevent conciliatory processes from being applied

What the A F of L wants primarily of course is a limitation on the power of the labor board to designate the appropriate unit for collective bargaining This goes to the heart of the craft versus industrial controversy Once this power is taken from the board however the question of what is an appropriate unit is left to the field of labor warfare with strikes as the only weapon apparently available for its settlement

The A F of L will doubtless be urged to make clear what it will substitute for the all important question of what constitutes a bargaining unit Is it the craft always or in some mass industries may it be the employes of a plant or shall it be broad enough to cover all employes of a company regardless of where the plants are located? These are pertinent questions certain to be raised when amendments are up for consideration

In the appropriate unit controversy employers will be intensely interested but they will find themselves out on a limb if they confuse it by attempts to revive these features of the original dispute over the passage of the Wagner act which both the C I O and A F of L now consider settled

As a practical matter the employers cannot command enough votes in congress as yet to change the basic structure of the Wagner act Their only hope for amendment will come thru the insistence of labor organizations themselves but the latter by no means want the kind of amendments proposed by employers and the C I O will not be slow to embarrass the A F of L if it should begin to weaken on the fundamentals of the Wagner act itself

There is enough in the appropriate unit' clause of the Wagner act to consume all the time congress may be disposed to give to Wagner act amendments Employer organizations may find it wiser to follow the lead of the A F of L rather than to develop a controversy in which conceivably no amendments at all may be adopted as a means of escape from the political consequences to members of congress of participation in the C I O A F of L conflict

DR BRADY'S HEALTH TALK.

Immunity Against Diphtheria

In France there are 2 000 deaths annually from diphtheria and about 20 000 cases of the disease annually

For years it has been obligatory for French soldiers to be immunized against diphtheria with toxoid which is called anatoxin in France

Not long ago the lower house of the French legislature passed a bill extending such compulsory immunization (it is inaccurate to call it vaccination) to all children during the second or third year Early in June of this year the French senate passed a similar bill so that immunization against diphtheria is now compulsory in France Parents or guardians are made responsible for having all children immunized No child can be admitted to school without a certificate showing that this law has been complied with On publication of the new law in early June notice was given that all children up to the age of 14 who had not been immunized must be immunized as soon as possible

The immunizations with toxoid will be carried out entirely at government expense The French government regards this as an economical policy believing that the outlay will be amply compensated by a marked reduction in the present sick rate of 20 000 cases a year and the death rate of 2 000 cases a year from diphtheria

They do some things better abroad

It never occurs to the United States government or to the dominion government or to the various state or provincial governments to assume all the cost of producing vaccine antitoxin Pasteur virus toxin antitoxin or toxoid and all the cost of protecting citizens with these agents In this country we prefer to go at it in some complicated furtive indirect way which will give petty politicians opportunity for a bit of legitimate graft and a chance to vent their spite on a few citizens who happen to resent assault or perhaps people who do not believe in such practices We put one law or ordinance on the books which makes it obligatory to send children to school and another which enables the petty boss of the district to exclude children from school unless they are vaccinated This is a favorite pastime of crooked politicians in America—medical and lay

No intelligent medical man can get around the fundamental fact that if vaccination affords the protection we believe it does no one who is vaccinated has anything to fear from one who is not vaccinated in any circumstances Therefore people who believe in vaccination have no ground for imposing their belief upon people who for any reason do not wish to be vaccinated

Hastings Spotlight I know of a farmer not many miles from Hastings who when faced with a partial loss of his wheat crop that made harvesting a losing venture will still turn the partial crop into a profit thru saving it via the method of turning a bunch of lambs into the field that they may eat and save what is left of the crop Despite a partial loss of his crop that farmer is using an economically sound method to save what is left and working and saving is the solid foundation upon which this country was built

Your Problems

By Mary Gordon

Dear Mary Gordon I am a girl of 18 and my problem is very common About a year ago I went with a very nice young fellow of 19 He always treated me very nicely and would have done anything for me But I was one of those girls that thought that looks counted a whole lot So one evening after he brought me home I told him I didn't like him and didn't want to go with him That was the end I went with many other boys all being the good looking type but they didn't appeal to me They all drank and when I went out with them I didn't know whether I would return safe and sound or be in a hospital because of an accident caused by carelessness

Now I've seen this one boy at different places and he always speaks to me and acts like nothing had ever happened I know he would go with me again if he knew the way I felt about the whole thing After learning my lesson I think his ways make him a very nice fellow (even makes his looks change)

Now Mary I want your advice on what to do about it I will be glad to do anything you say because I have sure changed

Another thing Mary is that I am keeping company with a boy whom I care nothing for He has asked me to marry him Now the problem is that I haven't enough nerve to tell him I don't care for him I would like to have some boys to write whether they would rather girls would come right out and tell them or keep putting them off —Heartbroken

P S I'll be waiting for an answer as I sure need it

A Answering your last question first what good will it do to keep putting it off? The blow to his pride will only be the more violent when it does come You needn't be blunt about it Just suggest that maybe he'd like to go out more with other girls and be busy next time he calls

Why don't you invite the first young man over next time you see him? If he seems responsive set a definite time and surely the opportunity will come for you to tell him you've changed your mind

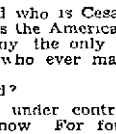
Baltimore Sun The Dies committee which has taken up the task of harassing the political heretics where Ham Fish and his collaborators left off is said to be running short of funds Some of its members perhaps all of them are talking about asking the federal bureau of investigation to lend men for the job of tracking down un American propaganda

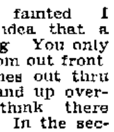
We hope such a request will not be submitted and that if it is submitted it will be refused The FBI is a law enforcement and crime detection agency One does not have to see eye to eye with the too much quoted Mr Hoover who is its head to recognize that the bureau he directs has so far confined itself strictly to hunting down those accused of violating the federal criminal laws and that this work is important

The Dies committee is engaged in an altogether different undertaking It is hunting down men and women accused of holding and disseminating certain political views It would be the negation of sense to confuse these two tasks and turn the FBI into a machine for dealing with those accused of political heresy We had a taste of that medicine when A Mitchell Palmer was attorney general and it was a nauseating dose Let there be no effort to administer another one



TWO CAN SING

by JAMES M CAIN ~



And who is Cesare Pagano?'

He's the American Scala Opera company the only impressario in opera who ever made money out of it

And?

'I'm under contract to them you know For four weeks beginning Monday After that I go back to New York to get ready for the opera season there

No I didn't know

'I didn't say anything about it

Then after tonight I'm fired?

'No I didn't say anything about it because I thought I might have a surprise for you I've been wiring Pegano about you and tonight he sent Rossi over Rossi thinks you'll do

What? Me sing in grand opera?

Well what did you think you were learning those roles for?

'I don't know Just for something to do Just so I could come down and see you

Anyway I closed with him

It turned out I was to get $125 a week which was upped $25 from what he had offered and that was what they were arguing about I was to get transportation pay my own hotel bills and have a four week contract provided I did all right on my first appearance I thought it was the screwiest thing I had ever heard of but I finally said yes

We hit Chicago the next day just the two of us because Wilkins went back to New York after the Columbus concert The first thing we did after we got hotel rooms was go around to the costumers I had to get fitted out for La Boheme Rigoletto and La Traviata Cecil already had her costumes

They were opening in Boheme on Monday night and I was to sing the role of Marcel

There was no rehearsals for principals in the American Scala You know your stuff or you don't get hired But I was a special case and Pegano wasn't taking any chances on me He posted a call for the whole Boheme cast to take me thru it Sunday afternoon They couldn't get the theater for some reason so we did it downstairs in the new cocktail lounge of the hotel which they didn't use on Sundays

Rossi put chairs around to show doors windows and other stuff in the set took the piano and started off The rest of them paid no attention to him at all or to me They knew Boheme front ward backward and sidewise and they sat around with their hats on the back of their heads working crossword puzzles in the Sunday paper When it came time for them to come in they came in without even looking up Cecil acted just like the others Every now and then a tall disgusted looking Italian would walk thru and walk out again I asked who he was and they told me Mario the conductor

Rossi rehearsed me until blood was running out of my nose throat and eyeballs I never got enough pep in it to suit him I had always thought grand opera was a show solemn kind of dignified show but the way he went about it it was a race between Jesse Owens and a mechanical rabbit I was surprised how bad the others sounded It didn't seem to me any of them had enough to crush a grape but I was to find out different

Monday I tried to keep quiet and not think about it but it was one long round of costumes phone calls and press release Around 6 30 Cecil said it was time to go We had to go early because she had to make me up

When we went in the stage door of the Auditorium theater that night and I got my first look at that stage I almost fainted I had never had any idea that a stage could be that big You only see about half of it from out front The rest of it stretches out thru the wings and back and up overhead until you'd think there wasn't any end to it In the second place it was all full of men and monkey wrenches and scenery going up on pulleys and noise And in the third place there was something about it that felt like big stuff about to happen I guess that was the worst

Cecil didn't waste any time on it She went right up to No 7 dressing room where I was to be and I followed her up She was in No 1 dressing room on the other side of the stage There was nothing in the room at all but a long table against the wall a mirror above that a couple of chairs and my costume trunk which had been sent around earlier in the day I opened it, and she took out the makeup kit and spread it out on the table saying 'Always watch that you have plenty of cloths and towels You need them to get the makeup off after you get thru

All right I'll watch it

Now get out your costume check every item that goes with it and hang it on the hooks When you have more than one costume in an opera hang each one on a separate hook in the order you'll need them

O K What else?

Now we'll make you up

She showed me how to put the foundation on how to apply the color how to put on the whiskers with gum arabic and trim them up with scissors so they would look right They come in braids and you ravel them out Then she had me put on the costume and inspected me I looked at myself in the mirror and thought I looked like the silliest zany that ever came down the pike but she seemed satisfied so I shut up about it

Around 8 o'clock she said you'll get your first call Take your hat and muffler with you and be sure you put them in their proper place on the set They go on the table near the door and put them on for your first exit

I know

When you've done that read the curtain calls

Oh

Keep quiet You can vocalize a little but when you feel your voice is up stop

All right

Now I leave you Good bye and good luck

At 8 o'clock there was a knock on the door and somebody said something in Italian I went down

They were all there Cecil and the rest all dressed all walking around vocalizing under their breaths Cecil was in black with a little shawl and looked pretty Just as I got down the chorus came swarming in from somewhere They weren't in the first act but Rossi lined them up and began checking them over I went on the set and put the hat and muffler where she told me The tenor came and put his hat beside mine The basses came and moved both hats to make more room on the table There had to be places for their stuff when they came on later I went to the bulletin board and read the calls We were all in the first two of the first act Cecil the tenor the two basses the comic and myself—then for the other calls it was only Cecil and the tenor On the calls for the other acts I was in most of them but I did what she said read them over and remembered how they went

M'LEMORE

And Now They 'Throw' Tennis Matches

BY HENRY M'LEMORE.

CHESTNUT HILL, Mass (Copyright, 1938, UP) Please don't whisper it to a soul, but—tennis is coming to a pretty pass, chums when the boys start throwing matches

It was remindful of a wrestling "fix" at the Longwood Cricket club Friday when Harry Hopman and Leonard Schwartz obligingly knocked the ball out of bounds and into the net to ease the progress of their countrymen, Adrian Quist and Jack Bromwich, into the final round Had they played at top speed Hopman and Schwartz probably would have won, but that would have been very embarrassing, because they are the Australian Davis cup 'spares" and Quist and Bromwich are the regulars

A defeat would have lowered the morale of the 'regulars," and they need all the morale they can muster, what with the Davis cup challenge round less than a week away

Here's a boost for Gene Mako, Don Budge's doubles partner He is a great player and a fine sportsman Almost every paper Gene picks up has a story in it telling what a handicap he is to Budge and how Budge should choose another partner Well, he and Don have won the Wimbledon title twice in a row, and in all their matches the heaviest fire is directed at Mako If he weren't a fine player he would have broken down under the pressure long ago . Mako has 'carried" Budge in the doubles tournament this week . Budge, still under the care of a physician, has been a feeble player but the team is in the final round and it was Mako who brought it there Needs Court Manners.

Yvon Petra, the champion of France and the biggest man in tennis, should take a correspondence course in court manners from Baron Von Cramm The baron, now languishing in the "jug" (German for jail) was the perfect gentleman on the tennis court from his first serve to final point

Petra spares no one when things go against him He makes gestures of disgust when his partner makes an error frowns and growls when he is beaten by a fine shot and boils over when the officials call a close decision against him

Frank Kovacs, the unique California youngster, has taken back all the bad things he said about George Hudson, his coach The pupil and the master have made up and now share soft drinks thru the same straw Australia is a cinch to win the Davis cup as soon as Budge answers the call of gold . And once they get it and start defending it 11 000 miles away it will have rust on the handles before anyone takes it from them

You can throw out the Jugoslavian threat The biggest disappointments of the tournament were the Jugos, Franjo something-or-the-other, and Ferenc what ever-it-is Best Young Prospect.

The best prospect among the younger girls is Patricia Canning of San Francisco She is the same type of player as Alice Marble Sidney Wood gold mine operator says Bobby Riggs will win both his Davis cup singles matches . Fame is fleeting note When the young Patricia Canning we mentioned a few sentences before asked the tournament officials for a mixed doubles partner they said 'All right, we'll give you Jacques Brugnon '

"Who is Jacques Brugnon?" Miss Canning asked

No one Miss Canning except the first of the 'Three Musketeers' of France who won and kept the Davis cup for years

JOCK SUTHERLAND DOUBTS IF PANTHER TEAM AS EFFECTIVE

Lose Too Many and Reserve Strength Not as Stout as Last Year.

GOLDBERG IDEAL PLAYER

BY WHITNEY MARTIN.

TOPEKA, Kas (P) There will be more downfield laterals on foot ball fields this fall, Pittsburgh won't have quite as good a team as it had last year, and it's awfully hot in Topeka

Those are opinions 1, 2 and 3 of Dr John Bain "Jock" Sutherland, University of Pittsburgh gridiron tutor who is instructing at a coaching school here this week

The tall, canny Caledonian, who recently returned from a visit to the 80 degree temperature of "Bonnie Scotlunt" was drooping as he ended a lecture before some 200 high school coaches in the shimmering shade of Washburn college campus

"I look for possibly more down field laterals, but not so many behind the line of scrimmage," he ventured

And why won't the Pittsburgh team this fall be as good as last

"We won't have the reserve strength" he explained "And our first string won't be quite so good We lost too many good men including three ends and four tackles Our backfield should be good, with Marshall Goldberg Johnny Chickerneo, Dick Cassiano and Harold Stebbins But how could it be better than last year's?"

Sutherland ranks Goldberg among the best backs he ever coached

"An ideal boy,' he said "Modest smart, hard working—he has everything"

Refusing to elaborate on his own team's possibilities Jock spoke freely of those of other easterns elevents He visions Dartmouth, Fordham, Cornell and Holy Cross as standouts

"And Harvard might be right up there," he added

All of which means, look out for Pittsburgh!

Krenk Evens Up with Wahoo Nine

BY WALTER E. DOBBINS.

Ernie Krenk finally got back at Wahoo, Elkhorn Valley loop leader The Lincoln righthander stopped the champions, 9 to 2 before a crowd of 1 000 at an Old Settler's picnic at North Bend Bob Carlson, Wahoo ace, was nicked for a dozen blows

Willard "Dutch' Witte, former Husker and present athletic director and coach at Wyoming U fired a 38 for nine holes to lead his golf team to a 9-5 win over Tom Hayes' team in a match on the Fremont links .Witte is visiting relatives in Fremont before going to Chicago to watch the College All Stars perform against the pro grid champions

Paul Schissler as many of his friends predicted, is back in foot ball again He will coach the Hollywood entry in the newly organized California pro circuit

Horse Racing Dirtier Racket Than Boxing, in John Lardner's Opinion

Eastern Writer Blames It on Men Who Claim to Improve Breed

BY JOHN LARDNER

Copyright by the NANA (The Lincoln Journal and other newspapers)

SARATOGA SPRINGS N Y — The racing commissioners at Saratoga have hit upon an epochal discovery—namely that horses which ought to win and don't win should be examined for traces of morphine in their saliva, their livers and their spleens

At a conservative estimate there are 5 678 901 horse players in America who knew this all along. Your correspondent, currently the lowest ranking horse player in the country, on a basis of bets cashed, is planning to demand a wholesale investigation of the saliva livers and spleens of six horses which failed to win six races on the afternoon (weather clear, track fast) of Friday Aug 26

They Hide Addiction.

Horses have a million tricks for covering up their weaknesses Take, for instance, a horse which has the morphine habit in an advanced form No artist has ever succeeded in painting the complete extent of the depravity and cunning of the thorobred horse After taking the dope he will stuff his mouth with peppermints and chewing gum to disguise his breath Look him in the eye and he will leer innocently back at you Speak to him and he will shrug your questions off with a nonchalant Who can tell?" or What'll you have yourself?"—while all the time his guilty hide is teeming with knockout drops

That is the only way you can explain the dope habit among horses unless you lay the blame upon the owners, the commissioners and the alleged sportsmen who control racing For no horse ever asked to have his breed improved and no owner or commissioner ever can tell you with a straight face that he runs his business for the benefit of the horse The rich owner is in business for his personal pleasure The small time owner is in business for profit The commissioner is in business for the salary it pays him, or to front for the owners

Could Take Lessons

You hear a great deal about the dirtiness of the fight racket The fight racket could take lessons at the knees of the horse racing racket And the horse racing racket is a racket because of the owners, the commissioners and the track operators

Don't blame the mobster who pays to have a horse doped—or the groom who takes his money and dopes the horse Blame the men who claim to improve the breed, and who have improved the breed to such an extent that the thorobred horse today is the weakest, most defenseless living creature for his size and weight

When a plow horse breaks a leg the veterinarian heals him When the thorobred sprains his ankle the boys come out and shoot him very dead where he lies

UNKNOWN AGAIN WINS IN GRAND AMERICAN

Ted West, 45, of Ohio, Takes Annual Event That Is Always Wide Open

VANDALIA O (UP) The 39th Grand American trapshooting tournament was written into the record books and, as usual, an unknown was marked up as winner of its blue ribbon event

He was Otello W 'Ted" West a 45-year old highway superintendent from Coshocton, O, who won the grand American handicap, an event which knows no favorites Until Friday he had been shooting in tournaments for 17 years including seven "Grands," with little success

West won the tournament's big event in a shootoff against Parr Rhines, 37 year old Marseilles Ill, hardware dealer Both tied with 99 out of 100 targets in the regulation shoot with West firing from the 20 yard line Rhines from the 19 In the shootoff, West hit 23 out of 25 pigeons, Rhines cracked 22

It's Worth $3,000.

The victory was worth approximately $3,000

Mrs George Peters of Springfield, O, daughter of Charles 'Sparrow' Young, the 1926 grand handicap winner turned in an upset victory by winning the Grand American women's handicap championship Shooting from 17 yards, she won a shootoff from Mrs Lela Hall of Strasburg Mo, recognized as the greatest woman trapshooter in the country The winner broke 24 out of 25 against 22 for Mrs Hall who shot from the 22 yards

High professional in the 'Grand was J B Giler of Rockland, Del with 98 hits from 25 yards

Cincy Fans Offer Seven Inning Plan

NEW YORK (UP) Ford Frick, president of the National league is in receipt of the following letter

'Dear Mr Frick

We the undersigned of Cincinnati, propose to the National Baseball League, Inc a resolution to be submitted at your next regular meeting

"Resolved that the length of the game played in the National league be limited to seven innings instead of nine innings as is now the rule this change to take place immediately and the new rule to read that the regulation game consist of seven innings

"Two advantages as we see it are, first it would allow the players additional time to catch trains, and the second and most important would be to prevent the Cincinnati Reds from losing so many games in the last two innings

"Very sincerely
'The Loyal Cincinnati Fans"

The letter was signed by 93 fans

SHAKY BUCCANEERS BACKING INTO FLAG IN NATIONAL RACE

May Set Up New Mark for Fewest Games Won This Year.

CARDINALS STOP GIANTS

BY GEORGE KIRKSEY.

NEW YORK (UP) It begins to look as if the 1938 National league championship will go to a team with the fewest number of victories any winner has had since the 154 game schedule was adopted in 1904

The record for backing into the championship was set at 89 games won and 65 lost by the St Louis Cardinals in 1926

With the exception of the Pittsburgh Pirates, whose lead is getting slimmer and slimmer, first division clubs must play at a much faster clip if they hope to take the pennant with a higher figure than the Cards 89 wins 12 years ago

The Pirates with 39 games left to play, could maintain a 538 clip—21 wins and 18 losses—and avoid equalling the Cardinal mark Their average for the season, with 69 wins and 46 losses, is an even 600 The second place Giants, with an average Saturday of 560, will have to function at 658 to make it The Chicago Cubs, five and one-half games off the pace, would have to increase their speed from 551 baseball to 694 while the Cincinnati Reds, in fourth place, would have to go up from 542 to 722

The Pirates have 39 games to play, the Giants 38, Chicago and Cincinnati each 36

Must Juggle Lineup

However you look at it, it appears that the league will be begging for a leader before the end of September because every time the Pirates get far enough out in front to feel comfortable they begin to come apart at the seams and Manager Pie Traynor has to juggle his lineup

Friday, they lost their third straight to the Phillies, 6-4, altho Traynor had benched Rizzo and Handley in an effort to get a new winning combination That defeat didn't affect the Pirates four and one-half game lead over the Giants, however, because St Louis took care of the New Yorkers, 7-6 Chicago crept up another game, to within five and one-half of the top, with a 7-3 victory over Brooklyn Cincinnati fell out of its third place tie with the Cubs by losing 6 1 to Boston

Al Smith, former Giant and Pete Sivess, held the Pirates to seven hits. Traynor called on Rizzo in the ninth as a pinch hitter, but the sensational rookie failed to deliver The Phils clinched the game with a five run burst in the fifth

Gutteridge Beats Giants.

Don Gutteridge's second triple of the day drove in Johnny Mize in the ninth with the run which enabled the Cards to lick the Giants

In the American league, the Yankees held their 12 game lead by splitting with Cleveland while second place Boston was dividing with Chicago The Yanks won the opener 15-9, shelling young Bob Feller unmercifully for seven innings The Indians won the second game, 8 5 Chicago won its opener 12-2 and lost the second 9-8 in ten innings

St Louis and Philadelphia split the A's taking the opener 11 6 and losing the second 6-4. Detroit licked Washington, 9 3

FRIDAY'S HERO Don Gutteridge, St Louis Cardinal third baseman, whose second triple of the day drove in the winning run against the Giants with two out in the ninth

Mike Jacobs Is Czar of Boxing

NEW YORK (UP) Madison Square Garden and Mike Jacobs 20th Century club formerly the Hatfields and McCoys of Cauliflower Alley, are united as "partners for promotion of boxing in New York and other cities

A four year contract retroactive to May 31 of this year was signed Friday Under its terms the Garden cuts in on profits of all Jacobs bouts including all those since May 31 Jacobs club has exclusive boxing privileges at the Garden and Garden bowl

It was the first contract partner the Garden has had since the late Tex Rickard and his 600 odd millionaires built the $5 500 000 sports emporium in 1925

The action elevates Jacobs to the throne once occupied by Rickard but gives him even greater power than Tex had because Mike is entirely independent of any responsibility to the Garden

He will make his own matches and promote and finance them without interference with Col John Reed Kilpatrick, Garden president

Both Kilpatrick and Jacobs were vague on the subject of possible losses but it was assumed that if fights incur losses, Jacobs must bear them

Jacobs has been holding fights at the Garden under a two year contract in which he leased its boxing privileges for an outright guarantee of $120,000 a year That contract was to run until October 1939

Kilpatrick explained that actually they were not 'partners but more like landlord and tennant

WOODMEN-LINK GAME POSTPONED SATURDAY

City League Champions Bow to Browns, 17 to 3, in Friday Battle.

Because of the death of A D Faulkner, president of the Woodmen Accident company, Friday night, the challenge battle between Johnny Bretzer's City league Woodmen champions and Pug Griffin's State leaguers scheduled for Saturday has been postponed indefinitely.

Friday night the Woodmen bowed to the Washington Browns fast Negro club 17 to 3 before a slim crowd at Landis Store

NEW YORK (AP) Light selling partly on a revival of European war fears put a crimp in Saturday's stock market and leading issues stepped down fractions to more than 2 points at the worst. Support appeared in the final hour and earlier weak motors, steels, rubbers and a wide assortment of specialties cut losses substantially altho volume dwindled noticeably on the comeback. Transfers were around 450,000 shares.

Nervous holders, brokers said, got out in the early part of the session as the speech of Sir John Simon, chancellor of the British Exchequer, came in on the board room news tickers. While the Simon address urged peaceful settlement of the Czechoslovak controversy it was not overlooked that a warning was sounded that if Germany starts a conflict in central Europe England might be compelled to fight and that other world powers may be drawn in. Most in Wall street however viewed the chancellor's statement as more conciliatory than otherwise.

Business news continued to provide moderate cheer for bullish forces but many commission house customers decided it was best to be on the safe side over the week end and to await further assurances full recovery forecasts would become a reality.

Adding somewhat to apprehension over affairs abroad were advices the British home fleet would reach fighting stations in the north of Scotland during the week of the nazi party congress at Nuremberg and the start next Thursday of important French army maneuvers.

In the matter of motor stocks attention was given Ward's reports which advanced the opinion the automobile production cycle has been modified and that the rise from here on will not be as pronounced as in the previous year. At the same time observers found prospects for sales of new cars after Labor day exceptionally bright. Steels derived some aid from estimates that next week's mill operations would at least maintain recent gains and probably register another small increase.

JAIL TWO HINES WITNESSES

NEW YORK (AP) With two of his witnesses in jail on charges of returning to the policy racket as soon as they had finished testifying Dist Atty Dewey looked toward Connecticut for corroboration of testimony that James J Hines, Tammany district leader, was on a gangster's payroll.

Six or more residents of the vicinity around Bridgeport, Conn, were reported among the 30 or 35 witnesses still to be called by the state in its effort to prove that Hines furnished the political protection which made it possible for the late Dutch Schultz to build up a $20,000,000 a year policy racket.

Lesslie Ware, 36, and Willianna Hammond, 28, both of whom testified for the state early in the trial were held in $1,000 bail each by Magistrate Michael A Ford.

They were arrested with six men in a raid on an alleged Harlem policy bank. Two of the men, Juan Campas, 18, and Anacito Romero, 55, were charged with being the "bankers" of the policy game organized about the time the trial started.

FEDERAL WHEAT PLAN GETS PRICE RESPONSE

Chicago Pit Up More Than 2 Cents—Corn Loan Lift Aids That Cereal

CHICAGO (AP) Wheat values in domestic markets rose as much as 3 cents or more Saturday, responding to the government's announcement that it would purchase the bread grain for export and relief purposes. A heavy demand for the grain developed on the Chicago board of trade on large scale buying for long and short account before profit taking checked the upturn. The reaction from the extreme highs was about a cent. Corn continued firm within a moderate trading range. Buying by commission houses was reported.

At the close Chicago wheat was 2⅛c to 2⅞c higher compared with Friday's finish, September 64⅞@65c, December 66⅜@66½, and corn was 1½c to 2½c up, September 53½@53⅞c, December 52@52¼c.

Announcement that the surplus crop control commission has increased the loan rate on off crop corn from 50 to 57c a bushel produced general buying. Some stop loss orders were caught and the advance in price of more than 2c resulted in free country offerings and purchases on a to arrive basis amounted to 300,000 bushels.

In a burst of opening sales wheat values in Chicago immediately leaped two cents. Kansas City opened 2½@3¼ cents higher on the government announcement that the wheat would be purchased in the southwest and Pacific northwest. Minneapolis was up 1⅞@1¼ and Winnipeg ½@¾. Adding strength to the general price upturn was the fact that Liverpool quotations closed more than a cent better than expected.

Despite heavy profit taking in the market here the tone continued strong on buying and short covering. In later trading a reaction set in and prices dropped ⅝@1⅛ cents from the high. Sales subsided.

Some traders expressed the opinion the government's program would lead to price cutting in world markets and pointed out that its eventual effect on the market could not be known until the government issued some positive information concerning its subsidy plan and the amount of wheat to be bought. Other traders doubted that an agreement would be reached by this country and Canada for cooperation in export of surplus wheat. Overnight foreign demand was reported to be slight.

GRAIN NOTES.

CHICAGO (AP) According to a report from Wichita, Kas, to James E Bennett and company there have been no export sales of wheat out of that market since announcement of the government's intention to subsidize some exports.

Broomhall reported farmers in Australia are agitating for higher wheat prices fearing that large world supplies will prevent them from obtaining their production costs.

The Canadian bureau of statistics said: Potential competition among the exporting countries for limited outlets is the principal contributing factor to the current uneasiness in wheat markets.

LIVERPOOL WHEAT AND COTTON

LIVERPOOL (AP) After touching new lows for the season wheat futures moved up on inquiries for Australian wheat and week end short covering. The market was steady at the close ⅛d to 1d net higher.

Cotton advanced on local support and firm overseas markets but hedging against American cotton and outside growths kept net gains within a range of 1 to 2 points at the close. The disturbed European situation brought out some liquidation.

LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO (AP) There were not enough hogs on hand Saturday to form a market. The fresh run of 4,000 head carried 3,900 billed direct to the major packers. With only 100 from the run left and 500 held over from Friday traders didn't even bother going to the pens.

The quotable top was $8 00. The general run was 10 to 15 cents lower than last week when the $9 00 hog was still in evidence. Traders said during the latter part of the week that the $9 00 hog was probably absent from the market until next year at least as an abundance of cheap corn tended to bring prices down.

Sheep and cattle were nominally steady there being no trading in either.

OMAHA

OMAHA (UP) Hogs 1,200, 1,100 direct, nominally steady; butchers practically absent; small lots medium grade light weights $8 35; good packing sows 160 lbs down $6 85@7 00; few light butchers sows $7 15; average cost Friday $7 38, weight 286 lbs. NEW YORK (AP) The bond market was under slight selling pressure altho there were enough supporting orders to keep declines within a minor range. The secondary division of the rail group was the most active and toward the final hour of the brief session showed the widest losses. There was no news of importance to affect the market other than the general uneasiness in Europe which failed to disturb to any extent the present position of foreign dollar bonds.

Losers of fractions to a point or so included Interborough Rapid Transit 7s, Nickel Plate 6s, Northern Pacific 3s, Southern Pacific 4½s, Southern Railway Consolidated 5s, Santa Fe 4s, International Hydro Electric 6s and Loews 3½s. Contesting the trend for small gains or holding about unchanged were Alleghany stamped 5s, Baltimore & Ohio 4½s, Rock Island 4s and Penn Dixie Cement 6s.

During the first hour only a small amount of German government bonds had appeared on the tape at losses of ⅛ to ¼ of a point. Rome 7s lost around ½ but Cuban 5½s improved more than a point. There was little activity in other foreign issues.

U S governments kept in the background, traders apparently digesting Washington reports the treasury may be a heavy borrower in the money markets in September. Actively traded issues ranged from 3 32nds of a point lower to 1 32nd higher.

PWA MOVING IN HIGH GEAR

Iowa and Nebraska Lead in New Projects Begun

PWA'S 1938 program has moved in high gear into construction in this region bringing with it employment and material orders to undertake a wide variety of public works, says Regional PWA Director Radford at Omaha. Work has started on 14 PWA projects, with a total estimated cost of more than $2,336,000 in five of the eight states included in the region for which Omaha is headquarters. Scores of others are scheduled to get under way in the next few weeks. They included hospitals, schools, libraries, waterworks, sewage disposal systems, a hospital and an auditorium.

Iowa and Nebraska shared honors in the number of new projects under construction with four each. A $1,085,000 university building at Columbia, Mo, was the first PWA region project to enter construction. University of Montana authorities at Missoula arranged an earlier starting date for a $300,000 chemistry and pharmacy building to permit ground breaking ceremonies this week end. Nebraska projects on which work has started with their estimated cost:

Fremont, school	$120,000
Dodge, auditorium	27,000
Oshkosh, school addition	32,000
North Bend, auditorium	32,727

HENSEL WAS CHRISTIAN

I believe he will be known less for his political success than for his fine Christian spirit. Whenever a people satisfy themselves with the thought that politics and corruption are one they spell their own ruin. The science of government calls for the best we have in manhood and genius.

Claude Hensel stood for the best things, religion, humanity and decency. His earliest passion and latest enthusiasm were related to these things. The lesson of his life is that the most splendid gifts, opportunities and ambitions should be given to Him who said 'Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren ye have done it unto me.' He kept himself poor by the prodigalities of his gifts but meantime he enriched himself by his self denial."

Flag Covers Casket

The body lay in state in the flag covered casket from 1 o'clock until the service began. There were some 300 reservations from various groups including the Spanish American War Veterans, War Mothers, the Y M C A board and members of the Y M membership drive committee, the County Sheriffs association, Optimists club, Knights of Pythias and Elks. About 20 Lincoln police officers in uniform and several people from the assessor's office were also present.

Dozens of floral tributes from Sheriff Hensel's many friends were banked about the casket. The only music in the service was the organ prelude and postlude played by Paul LeBar. Following services in the church a long funeral cortege proceeded to Wyuka where brief rites were held at the grave.

INSISTS COURT WAS RIGHT

County Board Cannot Purchase Existing Bridges

George W Leamer, attorney and taxpayer of Dakota county, whose intervention halted further proceedings on the part of the county board to acquire a bridge across the Missouri river between South Sioux City and Sioux City, filed a brief in supreme court Saturday in support of the decision of Judge Ryan in his favor. The action was begun by the county clerk to secure a declaratory judgment defining the powers of the board in the matter. The county answered the same day and the next day they went to Judge Ryan at his home and presenting stipulations and waivers secured an order to the effect that the law allowed the commissioners to make the interstate bridge purchase.

Later Leamer heard what had been done and complained that the board had no power to purchase an old existing interstate bridge and that the officers did not properly present the matter to the court. Meanwhile revenue bonds covering the purchase had been issued. On Leamer's intervention the court found that no authority to buy existed, prohibited the commissioners from consummating the purchase, and canceled all that had been done including issuance of the revenue bonds and collection of tolls.

The only issue is that of authority of the board, and Leamer says the law is plain that the only authority it confers on the board is to build a bridge; nowhere is an existing bridge mentioned. He says the board is wrong in its position that because it went ahead and attempted to complete the purchase on the basis of the first order the question is now a moot one. He says the board went ahead in defiance of court rules and procedure and before the order became final.

Reduction in Short Interest Regarded as Point in Their Favor

BY GEORGE T. HUGHES

Copyright by the NANA (The Lincoln Journal and other newspapers)

NEW YORK —Stocks spent the week flirting with the old highs, but always backing away when they came too near. On the week the list made a gain, but it was not a large one and it did not hold all the advance.

It was a much more irregular performance than that of the two preceding periods. Last week, the stocks went higher in every session, and, the week before, they lost ground consistently.

The year's high for the Dow-Jones industrial average was 145.67 on Aug 6. Thursday they managed to close at 144.07, only a point and a half from the old top but right there they faltered. The close Friday was at 142.94.

The hesitant movement at the top had the effect of making the chart followers bearish for the time being. They were predicting a reaction, not necessarily a severe one, but enough to correct what seemed to them a temporarily overbought position. They may be right or then they may not.

A point in their favor is the reduction in the short interest. It will be remembered that, back in June before the sudden upturn made its appearance, the market was full of shorts, so much so that it was calculated, on the basis of the volume then being registered, that it would have taken the bears three days to cover if they bought all the stocks sold. That is not the situation now. Just as an example (the figures are the latest available), the short interest in Chrysler was reduced from 99,000 shares on July 1 to 62,864 shares on July 29. But there is no official information as to how the account now stands but the probabilities are that it is lower.

Volume indications are not illuminating. The largest advance this week was scored on Tuesday when the turnover crossed a million shares for the first in seven full five hour sessions, but on the succeeding day, it was over a million shares also and stocks were fractionally lower at the end. The best that can be said is that, taking trading hour by hour, activity picks up on the advance and drops off on the decline.

Aside from the followers of the charts, the predominant sentiment in the street is bullish, especially for the longer pull. There has been nothing in domestic business developments to suggest a change of trend.

SHICKLEY CLASS REUNION

Graduates of 1918 Celebrate at Schoolhouse.

SHICKLEY, Neb.—High school graduates of 1918 celebrated their 20th commencement anniversary with a dinner meeting here and a tour of the school building. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Peter Marson, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mulligan and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Carlson of Geneva, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Nichols of Albion and Miss Thilda Nelson of Ong, who teaches in Indiana. Unable to attend were Marjorie Johnston and Emil Hendrickson, class members, and the former teachers, Miss Ottilie Brauer of Steinauer and Miss Elva Norris of Geneva, who teach in Montana and at Lincoln respectively. The group honored the memory of Principal Wrightsman, who took them thru their four years of high school.

THEO. H. BERG, City Clerk.

Notice.

July 29, 1938.

To the holders of Gold & Company first mortgage lease hold 4% Bonds.

Notice is hereby given to the holders of the above named bonds that the following numbered bonds are called for payment on September 1, 1938 at 100 and accrued interest, in accordance with the terms of the trust indenture securing said bonds: Nos. 11, 12, 13, 14, 15.

Payment may be had on that date at the office of The Continental National Bank of Lincoln, Lincoln, Nebraska.

Signed

The Continental National Bank of Lincoln, Trustee.

Notice to Contractors.

Sealed proposals covering the construction of certain ductways and manholes in connection with power plant improvements at the Municipal Power Plant will be received by the City Council of the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, at the office of the City Clerk until the hour of 10:00 o'clock A. M., Standard Time, Wednesday September 7, 1938, and then be publicly opened and read. Any bid received after closing time will be returned unopened.

All bids shall be made on the printed forms attached to and made a part of the proposed contract documents. The contract documents may be examined at the office of Black & Veatch, Consulting Engineers, 4706 Broadway, Kansas City, Missouri, or at the office of the City Engineer. Prospective bidders may receive a copy of the contract documents without charge.

Each proposal shall, as a guarantee of good faith on the part of the bidder, be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check on a solvent Nebraska bank, or a bid bond acceptable to the City, in an amount of not less than five (5) per cent of the total amount of the bid, payable without condition to the order of Frank J. Miller, City Treasurer.

No bid may be withdrawn within a period of thirty (30) days from and after the date fixed for opening bids.

The City Engineer's estimate of the cost of this work is $5,000.00.

The City reserves the right to reject any or all proposals and to waive any informalities in any proposal.

THEO. H. BERG, City Clerk.

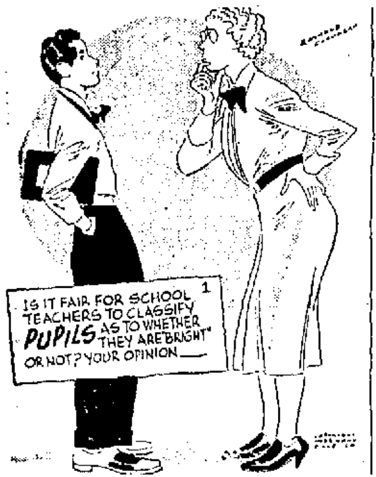
LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND by EDWARD A. WIGGAM D. Sc.



IS IT FAIR FOR SCHOOL TEACHERS TO CLASSIFY PUPILS AS TO WHETHER THEY ARE "BRIGHT" OR NOT? YOUR OPINION ____

THE STORY OF HEREDITY
"DAD, DO YOU THINK WE COULD WAGER SAFELY ON HORSE RACES IF WE KNEW ACCURATELY THE HEREDITY OF EVERY HORSE IN THE RACE?"
"NO, DICK, WE'D GO BANKRUPT BETTING ON SUCH AN UNCERTAIN THING AS HEREDITY."
YOUR OPINION ____

A WIT SAYS, "THE MIND IS LIKE A PARACHUTE - IT WORKS BEST WHEN IT IS OPEN." IS THIS ALWAYS TRUE?
YOUR OPINION ____

1. No, Because school teachers cant' tell bright pupils from dumb ones and neither can parents. Dr. Harry Eisner, of Columbia, compared the estimates of the intelligence of 495 pupils made by their teachers with the measurements made with intelligence tests. When properly given and interpreted intelligence tests are pretty accurate measures of intelligence or capacity to become intelligent. The results of the two methods did not agree at all. The boy rated by the teachers as the dumbest, scored the highest in the whole school on intelligence tests. Other experiments have shown similar results.

2. If the heredity were completely known, I think Dad would be wrong. Dr. H. H. Laughlin, backed by Walter W. Salmon, race horse breeder of Lexington, Ky., has carried on a six year research of the race horse and worked out a "general formula of heredity" as a yardstick by which to measure the racing capacity not only of a horse but of its offspring. The predictions of actual racing capacity in many horses have been remarkably successful but the research, being purely scientific, is not available for betting purposes. I have no doubt whatsoever that this formula if it were available would net handsome profits where races are run fairly.

3. Yes, that's a good way to put it. It is impossible for the mind to learn new truths unless it is open to receive new truth. However, open mindedness should not be carried so far that one never reaches any conclusions or convictions. The main thing is to be on the alert for new evidence. The worst fault we have is allowing our emotions and wishes to get in the way of our intellect and thus blind us to all evidence that might change our beliefs.

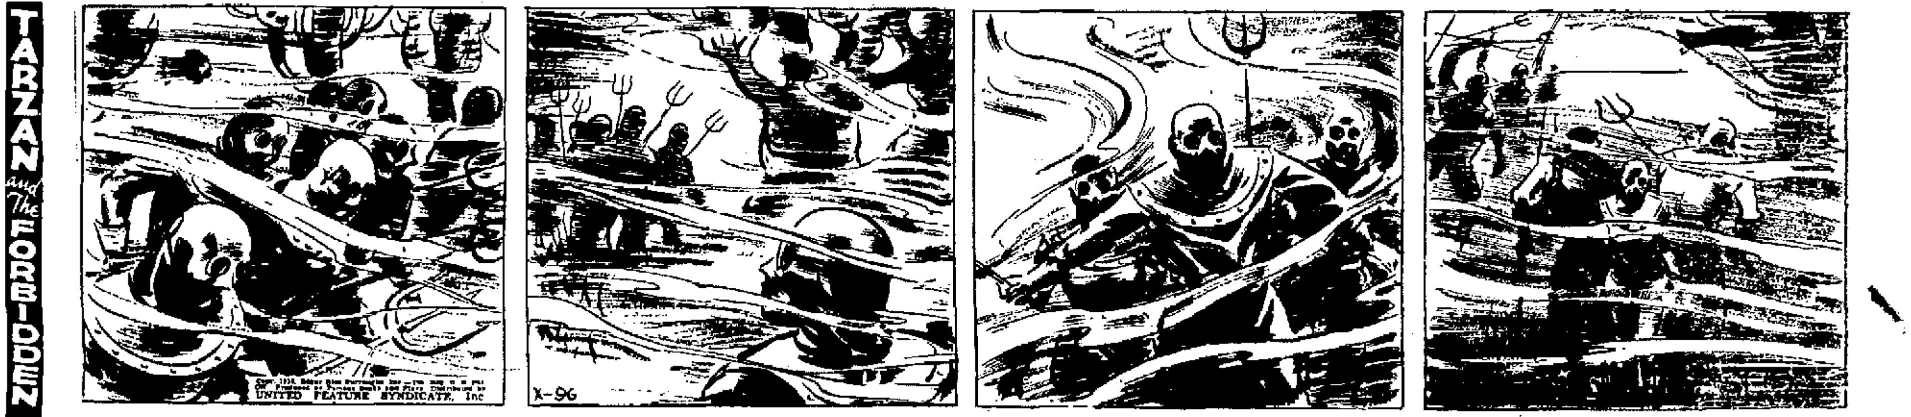
TARZAN and The FORBIDDEN CITY



Silently the six ptomes pushed their way thru the water, giving no warning to their quarry. But Tarzan was ever the wary jungle beast. He would have been dead years ago if he had not learned in his forest childhood that caution was the price of survival.

To him it was instinctive to glance now and then behind him. So it was that he saw the ptomes. Flight, he knew, was useless. Helen was weak from her harrowing experience. And the ptomes were more at home in the water than they. To fight was the only hope.

Helen had been bewildered ever since she had been taken from the execution chamber. Naturally she had not recognized Tarzan and Herkuf in their water suits. She believed she had been saved by the ptomes from one death, to be taken to another, more horrible.

But when the larger of her companions pointed out the pursuing ptomes she realized she might be in the hands of friends. Now Tarzan commanded a halt. The three fugitives took a stance, back to back, to await the assault. Confidently, the ptomes pressed on!
